Girl, Freed in Shooting, Held on Bigamy Charge

WOMAN CLEARED BY JURY IS HELD IN TOWER AGAIN

Corabelle Barnes Walks
Out of Courthouse
"Free," To Confront
New Warrant.

ACTION IS TAKEN
BY L. C. BARNES

Youthful Wife Will Be Carried to Marietta,
Where Warrant Was Sworn Out.

Freed of a charge of attempting to murder her 20-year-old husband as a result of an alleged conspiracy with another man last June, Mrs. Corabelle Barnes, 18-year-old blonde, Tuesday afternoon walked out of superior court to be met with a warrant sworn out by the victim, L. C. Barnes, charging her with bigamy. She was taken back to Fulton tower to await officers from Marietta, where the youthful husband took out the warrant after revelations resulting from the brief trial.

A jury in Judge E. E. Pomeroy's division of superior court returned a verdict of acquittal after considering the case shortly more than two hours. It had heard the testimony of young Barnes despite supposedly constitutional safeguards against a husband testifying for or against a wife.

Barnes had testified that he, his wife and a strange man, later introduced to him as Parson Phillips, had taken a ride out the river road on the night of June 18. The trio had "killed a pint," Barnes told the jury, and it was suggested by Phillips that they stop the car and obtain more liquor. After he had accompanied his newly found acquaintance to a lonely spot near the banks of the Chattahoochee, Barnes said, Phillips shot him three times in the head, leaving him for dead. It was for this that Mrs. Barnes was indicted jointly with Phillips, who was never arrested, having fled the state. Mrs. Barnes was freed of the charge of attempting to kill her husband.

Complications Arise.
During the trial, however, complications arose that led to the charge of bigamy being lodged by Barnes against the woman he says he married last February. It was when the prosecution attempted to place the victim on the stand that the defense objected on the ground that he was her husband and therefore was prevented by law from offering testimony against her.

In an effort to prove that the woman's marriage to the youth last February was not a legal union Assistant Solicitor John A. Hudson produced one Charlie F. Rice, a taxicab driver. Just as promptly the defense, led by Attorney Frank Grizzard, strenuously objected on the ground that Rice was her husband and, like Barnes, could not be called on to testify.

It was a strange circumstance in which both the prosecution and defense were in agreement that the blonde defendant had wed both Rice and Barnes without the formality of a divorce so far as records showed, yet the opposing counsel agreed for the oldest of opposed reasons—namely, the defense contended that the defendant was wedded to the man which prevented either from testifying against her, while the state claimed that having married Rice in 1927 the marriage to Barnes in 1930 could not have been legal in the eyes of the law and therefore Barnes' testimony was valid.

Court Adjourned.
So technical was the situation that Judge Pomeroy Monday had court adjourned until counsel could get the matter in a more straightforward condition. Upon reconvening Tuesday, however, John Hudson uncorked a distinct surprise when he cited an amendment to the old law governing testimony of husband and wife—passed by the legislature of 1927—which permitted either one or the other to testify under certain circumstances involving injury to the other.

Girl Expects Accusing Mate Will Obtain Release on Bail

CORABELLE BARNES

Her hazel eyes dimmed with tears that welled when the big iron doors of Fulton Tower clanged behind her, pretty, titian haired 18-year-old Corabelle Barnes declared late Tuesday that she expects the husband who swore out a warrant charging her with bigamy after she had been acquitted of a charge of conspiracy to murder him to post the $300 bond which stands between her and, perhaps, freedom.

Thirty minutes after sheriff's deputies had carried her from the courthouse to the jail, "Jack" Barnes, who is, according to the best information the authorities have been able to put a finger on, husband number two, was at Fulton Tower circling his strong arms about her slender figure, stroking her curly hair and vowing to get her out of the sorry mess into which his ungovernable jealousy plunged her.

An Ominous Dark Cloud.
But, here's the dark cloud that rolls ominously over an otherwise romantic sunshine.
Testimony in her trial for conspiracy to murder "Jack" developed—and caused astute lawyers to dig deep into the big books—that she was also the wife of Charlie Rice, an Atlanta taxicab driver.

And Charlie beat "Jack" to Fulton Tower Tuesday afternoon, following the little prairie girl's arrest, and Charlie first promised her that he would get somebody to make her bond—today.

"And," she said, her eyes flashing supreme confidence that "Jack" would post her bond or get the warrant withdrawn, "we are going away from Atlanta and start life all over again."

COLE BLEASE HAS LEAD IN CAROLINA FOR SENATE SEAT

Olin D. Johnston, Road
Bond Foe, Leads for Governor—Rolph Is Ahead in California.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 26.—(P)—Senator Cole L. Blease pushed up a lead of 10,000 votes over former Congressman James F. Byrnes in the votes from the first 876 of South Carolina's 1,528 precincts to be reported from today's democratic primary.

With many of the larger boxes unreported, the count at midnight stood: Blease, 52,813; Byrnes, 42,408; Leon W. Harris, 18,518.

A second race between Blease and Byrnes will be staged September 9, if this ratio is maintained in the later returns.

Olin D. Johnston, anti-bond issue candidate, had established a lead of more than 9,000 votes over A. Frank Lever, his nearest competitor, in the eight-cornered race for governor.

The indications were that Johnston would be in a second race with one of his opponents.

MAYOR ROLPH LEADS GOVERNOR YOUNG.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—(P)—On the basis of complete returns from 511 precincts out of 10,283 in the state Mayor James Rolph, Jr., continued to lead the field for the republican nomination for governor in today's state primary.

The figures: Rolph, 22,478; C. C. Young (incumbent), 14,017; Byron Fitts, Los Angeles district attorney, 10,355; Milton Young, 232.

ROSS COLLINS WINS IN MISSISSIPPI.
JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 26.—(P)—Congressman Ross Collins tonight appeared to have been safely re-elected over Robert Harrelson by a three to one majority on the face of incomplete and unofficial returns from the state's fifth district primary election.

Collins, the only Mississippi congressman to face opposition, was given 12,129 votes, Harrelson 4,334 votes, and led in all 10 counties of the district. He piled up a big majority in both his own county and that of his opponent. His own county, Lauderdale, gave him 4,535 votes to 897 for Harrelson.

In Leake county, Harrelson's home, Collins received 850 votes in early returns and Harrelson 253. The congressman made strong inroads on the home precinct of the young state legislator, where Harrelson received a total of 131 votes and the incumbent 122. Collins was accused of holding his lead in Leake, election officials believed, as the majority of the precincts, including those most populous, had been tabulated.

Captain Von Gronau's "surprise" flight from Germany to America was concluded with another surprise Tuesday afternoon when the German and his three companions brought their old flying boat down on New York harbor before the welcoming committee had expected them. The captain may be seen at the extreme left while his three flying school pupil-companions are aiding him in handing a line to a police tug in the harbor just after the landing and just before the latest air heroes were hailed by Gotham crowds. The captain characterized the trip in the antiquated craft as a "training flight."

CIVIL WAR THREAT IN PERU LESSENS

Aged Deposed President Is Reported Dying—Factions Hold Caucus.

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 26.—(P)—The threat of a civil war between north and south in Peru, following upon the fall of ex-President Leguia's administration, was apparently averted today by announcement of impending negotiations for peace and a united government.

Lieutenant Colonel Luis Sanchez Cerro, leader of the insurgents at Arequipa in the south, is expected in Lima tomorrow to negotiate with General Manuel Maria Ponce, head of the military junta in Lima.

With ex-President Augusto R. Leguia a prisoner of the junta, to be tried for the acts of his eleven years' presidency, leaders in the north and in the south have apparently reached a working basis for agreement.

Announcement of Colonel Sanchez Cerro's visit, officially made this afternoon, is the first definite sign of such progress.

The southern leader, who at Arequipa last Friday began the revolt that ended in the downfall of Leguia, has hitherto expressed distrust of the Lima junta.

In a manifesto to his supporters yesterday he said he would not go to Lima because the junta had technically been appointed by Senator Leguia before resigning.

He said also he had ordered the cruiser Almirante Grau, which Senator Leguia boarded yesterday, to put back to the railroad port of Mollendo, near Arequipa, and to surrender the expedition.

To offers of co-operation from the junta he replied by the demand that delegates be sent to Arequipa for a parley.

The military junta in turn sent a wireless to the cruiser demanding surrender and the return of the expedition.

SCHOOL WORKERS NOT ON TAX BOOKS

Only 393 of 1,691 Employees Are Listed on Rolls.

Only 393 of the 1,691 employees of the Atlanta public school system are on the tax books in their own names and, in addition, only 272 more are on the books in the names of their parents or husbands, according to a check of the December 15, 1929, directory of the department.

George Saxe, chief clerk in the tax assessors' office, Tuesday notified Councilman George Lyle, chairman of a special council committee, charged with the responsibility of getting city employees on the tax digests and also having them become residents of the city proper, of the condition, and was instructed to check further and force every one of them who should pay taxes to do so.

Of the entire 1,691 employees of the department, the record of Mr. Saxe showed that only 665 are on the digests in any form. A total of 238 live outside the limits of the borough of Atlanta and an additional 788 of the employees live within the city but are not on the tax records, it revealed.

In commenting on the condition, Mr. Lyle declared that the school department is not the "only offender in this respect." Others also are involved and are being checked as fast as the assessors and their assistants can get to them.

"Our committee intends to recommend that every city employee pay his commensurate share of the burden of running the government, and we may not even stop there," he said. "Many citizens are not paying their share of the expense of operation of the city. We are determined that they shall do so within the law."

"In one department we found an employee who, although he had drawn his salary for many years, had not paid a single cent of city taxes in half a dozen years. This condition is inexcusable. We are going to root it out and start right."

"Scores of city employees who lived outside the city have moved in since this matter was taken up, and the others must do so or lose their positions or get special councilman consent to live outside. Our committee will do what it was created to do, bring city employees within the limits of the borough."

LON CHANEY DIES AFTER LONG FIGHT

Famed Character Actor

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 26.—(U)—Lon Chaney, the man who brought the art of illusion to motion pictures, died today.

Known as the mystery man of Hollywood, a man who was always friends but few intimates, Chaney clung to his cloak of secrecy during the final period of his life.

He was stricken several months ago, shortly after he had completed his first taking picture, "The Unholy Three," and under his orders, little information came from his bedside at St. Vincent's hospital where he died.

Sisters at the hospital were requested by the actor to give out no information of his illness. His physician issued only brief bulletins at long intervals, and members of his family visited the hospital in silence.

Chaney was conscious until he suffered a hemorrhage of the throat early today. He evidently believed until the last that his strong constitution would pull him through.

Chaney's rise was slow but sure than some others in Hollywood where unknowns have risen to wealth and prominence overnight. It was preceded by hard work and application of a talent which was always in evidence in his boyhood days in Colorado.

Chaney always liked to "fool with makeup," and to this hobby he owed much of his great success in the movies.

"I just liked to putter around with the stuff," he often explained to interviewers with whom he was always reticent. "I soon found out that I could do some rather good things with it."

Chaney experimented on himself. Even after he was making thousands

Proprietor Detained After Blaze in Store

I. F. Gordon, 53, was lodged in jail late Tuesday night on a technical charge of suspicion, following a fire, believed by police to have been of incendiary origin, which almost completely gutted the Gordon Dress Shop, 204 1-2 Edgewood avenue, of which he is the proprietor.

Patrolmen E. H. Newwood and M. O. Evans, called to the scene of the fire, reported that L. R. Wallace, a fireman accompanying Fire Chief John Terrell, had reported seeing a man in shirt sleeves leaving the rear of the establishment as they arrived. The back door was discovered to be unlocked, and "kerosene soaked rags" were reported to have been found in the store.

Gordon, who was said to have had his sleeping quarters in the rear of the building, later was brought to headquarters by Detective Lieutenant T. O. Sturdivant and booked on a charge of suspicion. He will be subjected to questioning this morning, it was said.

"TRAINING FLIGHT,"
LEADER DECLARES

Doughty Instructor Says
He Wasn't Sure He Would Make Trip When He Left Germany.

BY PAUL W. WHITE.
United News Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(U)—Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau and his three companions brought down their flying boat in New York harbor off the Statue of Liberty today, completing a skillful if unpretentious flight across the north Atlantic from Germany.

The blunt-nosed Dornier Wal, a veteran of the air, thus became the first transoceanic plane to land its passengers adjacent to Manhattan Island in the lanes where steamships reach journey's end from the ports of the world.

The German airmen, to whom the aerial voyage was a mere "training flight," and who set off without advance notice a week ago from the Isle of Sylt in the North sea, raced at a 100-mile-an-hour clip from Halifax, N. S., in the last phase of their adventure. They left Halifax, N. S., 9:45 a. m. and sped over the 600 miles of land and coastal waters to be sighted by harbor craft at 3:30 p. m. E. D. T.

Circling for a landing and dipping occasionally as though to answer the salute of screaming sirens the flying boat then skimmed to a stop at 3:47 p. m.

So speedy was the run from Halifax that the city welcoming committee was unprepared—believing that the quartet would take two or three hours longer in ending their seven-hop flight by way of Iceland and Greenland.

Escort was provided by two police planes. One landed in the harbor waters close to the five-year-old flying boat while the other droned aloft.

After a few false starts a tow line was arranged and the Dornier Wal was brought within 100 yards of the battery where for hours a crowd of several hundred had been waiting. The fliers, with little evidence of travel strain, then were able to clamber aboard a police boat for the brief run to the dock.

Captain Von Gronau was the fourth pilot in history to fly westward across the Atlantic. Upon arrival, he went to the harbor police station, not to register as aliens do in his homeland but because it appeared that he was a spy.

Negroes Shun Role in Play After Two Enacting It Die

BY H. ALLEN SMITH,
United News Staff Correspondent.
NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Twice within a week death has struck down the negro actors in the role of a doomed criminal in the all-colored musical revue, "Hot Rhythm," and today the casting director for the show could not find a negro anywhere in New York who would step into the hoodoo part.

When the curtain rose on the fifth performance of "Hot Rhythm" at the Times Square theater tonight a white man, with burnt cork on his face, was led off to the stage electric chair.

The show went into rehearsal three weeks ago with a negro named James W. Jackson taking the part of the doomed convict. The scene in which he was to play portrayed a range of prison cells. It was designed to be a burlesque on the popular drama, "The Last Mile."

Jackson was to be led down the corridor to the execution chamber. Inside this chamber, out of view of the audience, was a hypothetical electric chair. A moment after the death party passed through the door a motor started to buzz ominously and the lights grew dim. It was all in fun, all a travesty on the more serious play. The negro actors thought nothing of it at first.

The revue was scheduled for opening last Tuesday night. Tuesday morning James Jackson was found dead in his room in Harlem of accidental asphyxiation. The opening of the show was delayed for two nights to another negro, William Sheppard, could learn Jackson's lines.

"Hot Rhythm" opened last Thursday night and William Sheppard did a fair job with his part. The execution scene was realistic. Then, after the performance, someone in the cast told Sheppard about his predecessor's death. Sheppard immediately resigned.

At Friday night's performance, William Simpson, another negro, stepped into the role. He was led away to the execution chamber to hear the buzz of the motor just once. He, too, learned of James Jackson's death, and he called for his pay.

By Saturday night the producers were frantic. They put Edward Rolles, a negro chorus boy, into the electric chair scene. The buzz of the motor and the dimming of the lights nearly made a nervous wreck of the colored youth, and he resigned.

Over the week-end several conferences were held. Finally Nat Cash, 42-year-old negro dance director for the show, stepped forward.

"There's no reason for all this superstition," he said. "I'm ashamed of these fellows. I'll do the part Monday night and from now on."

So Monday night it Cash went to the electric chair. He did not know the lines well and was aided by a prompter. After the performance he took the script of the play and told other members of the company that he was going home and study up on the part.

He went to his home in Newark, N. J., and sat up most of the night going over the lines. At 9 o'clock this morning his landlady found him sitting bolt upright in a chair, dead of a heart attack.

When the producers learned of Cash's death they started looking for another negro actor.

But such news travels quickly in Harlem, where drug stores sell more rabbit's feet than they do toothbrushes.

Scouts were sent out to find someone to take the jinx part, but they met with refusals everywhere.

Finally, as a last resort, the management put the white stage manager, Ted Marcel, into the cast.

Dan Moody Starts Buy-a-Bale 'Plea'

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Aid for farmers of the south, stricken by low prices and drought, was proposed by Governor Dan Moody today in a "buy a bale of cotton" movement in which governors of all cotton states were asked to join.

The governor wired each southern executive asking that they join in a nation-wide plea to the public to buy a bale of cotton at 15 cents a pound, several cents above the current market price.

The governor estimated that it would be possible to take five million bales of cotton off the market and thus stabilize and increase the price, adding $175,000,000 to the pocketbooks of southern farmers.

The investment to individuals over the nation would be approximately $75,000,000. Taking the similar movement of 1914 as a criterion, Governor Moody declared that every person who bought a bale would be able to get his money back.

The $75 would be a loan with the bale of cotton as security, he explained.

The executive stressed two points in his proposals: First, that the governor's appeal be addressed, not only to the south, but to the whole nation; and second, that "distressed" cotton, and not "contract" cotton, be purchased.

He said he had consulted officials of the Texas Cotton Co-operative, operating under funds from the federal farm program, and they had expressed no objections to the movement.

After he has heard from other governors of the south, Governor Moody planned to issue a proclamation addressed particularly to the people of Texas and generally to the nation.

Other governors joining the movement probably would do likewise.

While no plan for movement have been formulated, it was suggested that sectional and state campaigns might be launched.

U. S. Shipping Leader Dies After Operation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A prominent figure in American shipping for more than 20 years, John R. Gordon, 58, president of the Merchant Fleet Corporation, died here today after an operation for appendicitis.

When he was selected head of the fleet corporation, operating agency of the shipping board, last December, he had been a member of the American Steamship Owners' Association for 20 years, serving a portion of that time on the executive committee.

For a like period, he had directed the marine and traffic department of the Union Sulphur Company of New York.

During the war he was a member of the ship control committee, a special representative for the shipping board to Paris and London, American member of the allied maritime transport council, the American member of the London blockade committee and on the Belgian relief group.

For several years he was chairman of the American committee of Lloyd's register of shipping.

He was born in Portland, Conn., and is survived by his widow, Mrs. William, and two children, Mrs. W. H. Haynes, of Pasadena, Cal.

Jackson Will Visit Dead Flyer's Mother

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Aug. 26.—(AP)—There is a "certain brotherly love which exists among all the old airplane pilots," and that is why Dale "Red" Jackson, co-holder of the world's refueling flight record, is coming here to visit the mother of the late Bill Lindley, killed a few weeks ago in a plane crash at West Palm Beach.

While Jackson and Forest O'Brien were soaring over St. Louis making new air history recently, Jackson wrote Mrs. Amelia Lindley about this "brotherly love among the old pilots that no one knows about and when one is called away it's just like one of his own family."

"But a pilot is a funny person," the letter continues. "He never shows his feelings on the outside. That's why lots of people think they are so hard-boated. But down inside it's different. I'm planning a trip to Florida later on this year. I always go to Miami for the air races in January. I'm going to drop in and pay you a visit. I want very much to meet you as I knew Bill so well."

"I hope you can read this as I am trying to fly and write at the same time. We have passed the 630th hour in the air now."

"Yours till the wings blow off."

Tennessee Legion Picks John McCall

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 26.—(AP)—John E. McCall, commander of the Memphis Legion post, was elected commander of the state department of the American Legion at its convention here today, defeating A. Lee Price, of Jackson, by a vote of 875 to 581.

Nashville was chosen as next year's convention city.

ECKFORD FIRES VOLLEY AT 'COURTHOUSE RING'

Accuses Foes in Race of Wooring Voting Strength of "Machine."

Asserting that he would, if elected, advocate putting the state institutions on a substantial basis and making liberal provision for them, George Eckford, candidate for the house of representatives from Fulton to succeed Dr. George Brown, Tuesday night assailed his three opponents and charged that his own candidacy was being opposed "to the limit by the corrupt members of the courthouse ring."

"Bond Almond," Eckford said, "chairman of the registration and voting committee of the Chamber of Commerce, bids strong for the courthouse ring support and has announced nothing that he stands for or against."

"Iniquitous Combination."
"If he manages to combine the political strength of the Chamber of Commerce and the courthouse ring," Eckford said, "he will have brought about the most iniquitous and damnable combination ever perfected."

"I call on the independent voters of Fulton county to smash the candidacy of Bond Almond in no uncertain manner, and to elect George Eckford to the legislature," he added.

Eckford also said:

"Swift Tyler, Jr., whose taxes on property are paid in an adjoining state, is also flitting with the elements of the courthouse ring and is claiming the undivided support of these elements. It is generally understood that his race for the legislature is more of a preliminary to the future race which he is to make for solicitor-general, rather than to serve the people of the county in the legislature. This fact will doubtless cost him many votes that he may have otherwise secured, and it should materially help you in making up your mind to vote for George Eckford to represent you in the legislature."

Adams' "About Face."

"Virgil Adams, another lawyer candidate, was overwhelmingly defeated for council by the voters of his own ward only a few years ago. He denounced the courthouse ring in a speechmaking campaign in the primary for the nomination of county commissioner, and a short time afterward, when the opportunity to defeat the courthouse ring presented itself, he supported the ring's candidate for superior court clerkship. This should help elect George Eckford to the legislature."

"There is no question, at all but that I stand as the strongest independent candidate for the legislature, and every vote cast for me will be a direct thrust at the ring that has bankrupted Fulton county, and now threatens to raise taxes to keep up their gluttonous practices."

"I favor and will advocate strict economy in our state government. Our great state universities have been hamstringed long enough, due to the waste and extravagance in other departments of our state affairs. I will advocate putting these institutions on a substantial business basis and provide for them liberally, so that thousands of our native-born Georgians may obtain the benefits of a college education. No longer should these institutions be as a foothold to designing politicians, and thereby pauperized to the exclusion of the young people who are seeking higher education."

"In our next session of the legislature we must begin the work of revising our present system of taxation. The load must be shifted from real estate and especially from those least able to bear it, that is, the small home-owner. The taxes on stocks and bonds are so high that in many instances they confiscate the greater portion of the income; therefore, the owners have shipped them out of the state in order to avoid this loss."

CHAMBERLIN-JOHNSON WILL CLOSE SATURDAY

With the closing of the clearance sale of the stock of Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Company on Saturday next, that famous store, long a landmark for shoppers after the best in Atlanta, will end its career under present operation.

Pizitz, of Birmingham, who took over the store some months ago, hoping that they could carry on the same style of business which had flourished there in years gone by, find themselves unable to conclude the arrangements they desired and regretfully announce that they are leaving Atlanta, temporarily at least, after this week.

Phil L. Pincus, general manager, stated Tuesday that it was with genuine regret that they found themselves forced to leave a city they have grown to appreciate highly, both in a business sense and for the many warm friendships made since they came here.

"We are tremendously grateful for the support they have accorded our efforts to supply them with the finest of merchandise at the lowest of prices," said Mr. Pincus. "We all like the city immensely and the people here have treated us just as we have tried to treat them, 100 per cent fair and square."

"We are not abandoning our negotiations for a permanent establishment here altogether, and if we are enabled later to return in the way we desire, we know that the good-will created during this temporary stay will be valuable to our future business relations with Atlanta and everyone in it."

"We regret exceedingly that a store of the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose type must close its doors, but find it the only possible thing to do under the circumstances."

Mr. Pincus said that they had not planned for any late hours at the store on Whitehall, near Mitchell, during the last week and expected to close the doors for the last time at the regular closing time on Saturday, at 5:30 p. m. In the meantime he urged all Atlanta buyers to visit the store and benefit by some of the splendid bargains that are to be found there this week, with all prices marked down to points which assure an absolute clearance of everything in the store by Saturday night.

Plane Theft Charge Against 'Red' Mohun Is Dismissed

Court Holds No Criminality Involved in Actions of Stunt Flyer.

A charge involving violation of the state law dealing with theft of motor-driven vehicles against Philip M. (Red) Mohun, former stunt flyer, in connection with the crash of a plane said to belong to Dr. Fraser L. Adams, was dismissed Tuesday by Judge Luther Z. Rosser's division of municipal court after hearing of testimony in the case.

Judge Rosser acquitted the aviator after hearing evidence in the case from Dr. Adams, Mohun and Pete Underwood, the last named testifying he was co-owner of the plane wrecked by Mohun on the golf course of Candler park the afternoon of August 9.

In dismissing the charges, the court held it was clear Mohun had not attempted to steal the machine, inasmuch as previous testimony convinced the court that as instructor to Underwood and Dr. Adams the pilot had taken down the plane without notifying either party.

Dr. Adams had told the court Mohun had hopped off in the plane without his knowledge or consent, but on the testimony of Underwood that he owned the propeller, wheels and other essential parts of the machine, and that he had engaged Mohun to fly the crash as an instructor in flight, Judge Rosser decided no criminality was involved.

"It is clear," the court decided, "that had the defendant returned the plane in good condition the charge never would have been made."

In his own statement to the court, Mohun declared Dr. Adams gave him full permission to use the ship. He said the warrant for his arrest on the technical charge of "felony" had resulted after his failure to return the plane in good condition.

The warrant was sworn out Monday by George G. Finch, representing Dr. Adams, who also appeared in court Tuesday as attorney for the prosecutors, while F. Joe Turner represented the defendant.

Good-Will Industries Appeal for Castoffs

Asking "not charity, but a chance," the Rev. Y. A. Beall, superintendent of Atlanta Goodwill Industries, Inc., Tuesday issued a strong appeal to Atlantans who contemplate moving September 1, asking that discarded clothing, furniture and other things be contributed to the needy persons this institution seeks to benefit.

Atlanta Goodwill Industries, Inc., he stressed, is organized to "turn junk into jobs, and waste into wages." "We can use anything except broken glass and tin cans, no matter what condition it is in," he said.

This "raw material," Mr. Beall said, gives temporary employment to hundreds of people every year—mending and renovating. The articles thus repaired and freshened are sold at low cost to needy persons, and when necessary are given away to worthy families which cannot afford the price.

Mr. Beall's appeal requests that persons preparing to move telephone the Industries' office and ask that the Goodwill truck call to get the discarded articles. Others who desire to contribute such material will be supplied with large durable paper bags bearing the organization's emblem, which will be collected on call to the Goodwill office.

POWER CONTROVERSY INTEREST INCREASES

Indication of statewide interest in the hearing of the Crisp county power rate case, set for September 2, was disclosed in an announcement Tuesday from the Municipal Utilities Rate Association would meet in Atlanta Thursday to discuss plans for a second announcement from Columbus said that Mayor J. Homer Dimon, City Commissioners R. E. Dismuke, H. C. Smith, J. B. Knight and W. O. Davidson and City Attorney William Worsley will attend the hearing, which was fixed by a ruling of the public service commission when the Georgia Power Company initiated a 35 per cent reduction at Cordelle.

Officials of the Crisp County Power Company, operating a new hydro-electric plant, charged that the power company was attempting to force them to close down their plant, while power company officials retaliated that the Crisp county company had reduced rates in the hope of destroying its Cordelle plant.

William Lester, of Augusta, is chairman of the Municipal Utilities Rate Association. Members of the executive committee are: O. W. Franklin, W. D. Worley, Columbus city attorney; James L. Mayson, Atlanta city attorney, and John J. Bouhan, city attorney of Savannah.

26 South Carolina Paper Carriers See City's Sights

Twenty-six carriers of the Spartanburg (S. C.) Herald-Journal reached Atlanta Tuesday afternoon for a three-day sightseeing trip of Atlanta. They motored from Spartanburg, stopping en route at Stone Mountain, where they were served a picnic lunch, after which they were taken to the Biltmore Hotel, where they will make headquarters during their stay in Atlanta.

The trip is the result of a circulation contest waged among its carrier boys by the Herald-Journal. The winners of the contest were offered a free trip to any southeastern city, and Atlanta was their unanimous choice.

Tuesday evening the party was entertained at the Fox theater. Wednesday's program includes a motor trip to Grant Park and Piedmont Park, where the boys will have a swimming party. Following this they will be taken through the museum at the state capitol. In the afternoon they will witness the baseball game between Memphis and Atlanta. Thursday morning they will be guests of The Constitution on a trip through the plant.

The party is in charge of H. T. Blalock, circulation manager of the Herald-Journal. It includes Floyd Crouch, Robert Fladger, James Ransom, R. L. Hensley, W. A. Hawn, Willie West, Jack Tallant, Paul Littlejohn, Cannon Page, John Lowery, A. T. Charles, William Anderson, Clinton West, Terry Rost, Irvin Cribb, Albert Israel, Winfield Brown, William Malone and Millard Flow, all of Spartanburg.

Among those winning special awards were Arthur Howell, Jr., Walter Wilson, Jr., Haines Hargrett, Hughes Roberts, Julian Harrison, Dan Franklin, Winship Nunnally, Jr., Sanders Walker, Dean Sprattlin, George Winship, John Lucas, Carling Dinkler, Jr., Jack Chambers, Jr., George Bland, Walter Hill, James Sibler, Jr., Charles Mashburn, Wharton Mitchell, Herbert Ruff, Habersham Colquitt, Edgar Farrell and Billy Bailey.

Two Painters Hurt As Scaffold Falls

Falling nearly 25 feet when the ropes at one end of a scaffold on which they were working gave way, two painters, T. J. Cato, 38, of East Oxford avenue, College Park, and Joe Fulton, 44, of 1251 Grant street, were rushed to Grady hospital Tuesday afternoon by a passing motorist, where examination revealed that Cato had suffered a fractured right leg and hip, while Fulton had a fractured left arm.

Both men, who were employed by the Rogers store at Peachtree and Tenth streets, were badly shaken up and bruised by the fall.

The accident occurred while the two men were painting the front of the Rogers store at Peachtree and Tenth streets.

Plans Being Made For Vets' Reunion

Arrangements for the reunion to be held in Thomaston, September 25 and 26 under auspices of the Georgia division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, are being formulated, it was announced Tuesday by John J. Hunt, commander Georgia division, United Confederate Veterans.

Mr. Hunt recently held a conference with a delegation of the United Daughters of the Confederacy from Thomaston on the coming reunion.

Receiver Is Sought For Iron Company

Asking for the appointment of a receiver to operate the business, the National City Bank of New York Tuesday filed a suit in United States court against the Georgia Manganese and Iron Company, of Atlanta, as a step preliminary to foreclosure of a $1,500,000 mortgage held by the bank to secure a bond issue of the defendant company.

A total of 12,555 acres of land in Bartow and Cherokee counties are involved in the pleadings, which were filed by Little, Powell, Reid and Goldstein for the bank.

CITY AUDIT SYSTEM PROPOSAL DEFEATED

Committee Returns Adverse Report on Central Book-keeping Plan.

Another councilmanic battle, with a prospect that the proposed system of centralizing all bookkeeping of the borough of Atlanta in the office of the city comptroller will be defeated, was forecast Tuesday following action of a special council committee in voting to veto a recommendation that the system be employed in the future.

Four of the five members of the committee were present and three of them—Aldermen Claude Ashley, chairman; Councilman W. Paul Carpenter and E. P. Dodd—signed the adverse report.

Alderman G. Everett Milligan, of the tenth ward, one of the first proponents of the system, signed the adverse report which will go to council, and will stage a determined fight to prevent adoption of the majority recommendation. Councilman Ellis B. Barrett, of the thirteenth ward, the fifth member of the committee, was not present.

The hearing of the committee Tuesday afternoon resolved itself for the most part into a debate between Aldermen Ashley and Milligan.

A proposal of Mr. Milligan that the committee recommend that the incoming mayor, James L. Key, and the chairman of the 1931 finance committee, to be selected by Mayor Key when the latter makes up his committee reports the first of the year, be requested to engage a "national" known auditing firm to make a survey of Atlanta and ascertain just how much money the system would save the city annually, was defeated.

Mr. Milligan contended that the system would save thousands of dollars annually and at the same time be more convenient for the citizens, inasmuch as they would have to deal only with one department in making

Woman Asks $55,000 Damages in Collision

A suit asking damages of $55,000 has been filed in Fulton superior court as the result of a recent collision between a large truck operated by the Bullock Transfer Company and a small sedan containing a number of Atlantans, it was revealed on court dockets Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. E. B. Henning, through Reuben Garland, attorney, is seeking damages in behalf of Tucker and George Calloway, minors, and Mrs. G. T. Allen and Mrs. W. J. Edwards, passengers of the sedan, which it is alleged, was struck at Briarcliff road and Ponce de Leon avenue, August 22, by a van operated by the transfer concern, injuring two of the occupants.

Tucker Calloway was injured severely, the suit alleges, and is seeking $25,000 damages as a result, while the other occupants are asking damages in the sum of $10,000 each. No date has been set for the trial.

Decatur White Way Will Open Tonight

Third and fourth ward citizens will join at 7 o'clock tonight in the official opening of the white way on Decatur street extending from Fitzgerald street to the end of the car line.

HULL ADDS VOICE
TO PARTY BICKERINGTennessee Senate Nominee
Replies to View of
G.O.P. Head.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(P)—The party battle of statements continued tonight with Representative Cordell Hull, Tennessee democrat, replying to the Fess view of the Hoover administration and with Senator Vandenberg, Michigan republican, renewing charges of misrepresentation against democratic headquarters.

Both statements were issued through party committees and Hull attacked the republican administration in a radio address, and Representative Fess, of the republican national committee, until today "in accordance with its understanding of the ethics of such things."

Senator Vandenberg said he was amazed at the extent to which John J. Raskob's spokesman, Mr. J. J. Raskob, and his tireless democratic ally, Mr. Raskob, either neglects facts or relies on popular gullibility.

The Michigan senator quoted Shouse as saying that the flexible tariff provisions to investigate rates on various commodities as directed by senate resolutions.

Vandenberg said he knew that Grand Rapids furniture manufacturers already had testified before the tariff commission in one of the investigations.

He added: "This immediately convicts Mr. Shouse either of error or misrepresentation."

Sheriff To Return
Hayden To Alabama

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—(P)—Sheriff W. L. Tatum, of Crenshaw county, Alabama, arrived here today to return to Alabama Jack Spalding, alias G. R. L. Tatum, wanted to answer in a $5,000 stock deal.

Hayden, arrested here Sunday, said that he had a wife in Mississippi and today his wife, the former Miss Albertine Weiss, a member of the social set in Biloxi, made herself known as Mrs. Spalding or Mrs. Hayden and said that she planned to come to New Orleans today and visit her husband.

The couple were married about five years ago while Hayden was in the real estate business in Biloxi.

Hayden said that he did not intend to fight extradition to Alabama and Sheriff Tatum and W. J. Williams, Crenshaw county farmer who brought the charge of false pretenses and came here with the sheriff, agreed to wait here for two days until Hayden could straighten out his affairs.

Death Claims 'Man of a Thousand Faces'

POST WINS PACIFIC TO CHICAGO DERBY

CURTISS REYNOLDS AIRPORT.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—(P)—Wiley Post, of Oklahoma City, was first to cross the finish line in the Los Angeles to Chicago non-stop air derby today. He landed his Lockheed monoplane at the national air race at 5:39:04 p. m., C. D. T. Lee Shoenhair, of Akron, Ohio, was second, and William S. Brock, of Detroit, was third to finish.

The fourth entrant, Art Goebel, did not take off from Los Angeles today but is expected to hop later in the week in an effort to beat Post's time.

Shoenhair finished at 5:39:17 and Brock at 5:48:57.

Post took off from Los Angeles at 5:30 a. m. (P. S. T.). Shoenhair left at 5 a. m., 30 minutes ahead of Post, and Brock took off at 4:55 a. m. Post said he dropped one of his compasses en route and lost some time because of that and bad weather.

An unofficial check indicated Post had made the trip in 9 hours, 9 minutes, 4 seconds, Shoenhair in 9:39:17 and Brock in 9:53:57.

Averaging 127 1/2 miles per hour and setting the blistering pace from the start, Mrs. Phoebe Omie, of Memphis, Tenn., today won the women's Class "B" Dixie derby from Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Omie, who also won last year's air derby for women, piloted her speedy little monoplane across the finish line at the airport here at 3:16 p. m., to cut the elapsed time for the distance down to 11 hours, 42 minutes and 21 seconds.

Mrs. Martie Bowman, of Hempstead, N. Y., was a poor second in the race which was limited to planes of 500 cubic inch piston displacement. Her elapsed time was 14 hours, 48 minutes and 39 seconds. Laura Ingalls, of St. Louis, captured third place in 16:47:29.

Two contestants failed to finish in the money. Nancy Hopkins, of Garden City, N. Y., and Charity Langdon, of Norfolk, Va. One other, Vera Dawn Walker, of Los Angeles, was reported out of the race at Birmingham, Ala. Miss Hopkins' time was 19:18:18, and Miss Langdon's 20:44:47.

Their prizes were: First, $2,000; second, $1,200, and third, $800.

Other events of the day included two closed course races and assorted aerial contests.

Vern Roberts, of Moline, Ill., flying a monoplane, set a pace of 141.91 miles an hour to win the 25-mile race for planes of 650 cubic inch piston displacement. Leo Bowman, of Los Angeles, Cal., placed second, and R. T. Quinby, of Moline, Ill., third.

Flying a Grumman biplane, Charles Meyer, of Cleveland, attained an average speed of 116.93 miles per hour to win the 25-mile race for open type ships with motors of a maximum of 350 cubic inch piston displacement.

H. Neumann, Elmhurst, Ill., won the civilian's balloon bursting contest. J. K. O'Meara, Akron, Ohio, won the secondary spot landing contest. P. C. Skeels, Chicago, won the soaring plane duration contest, and W. B. Brunken, Maywood, Ill., was first in the primary glider duration contest.

Early in the day a fleet of tiny model airplanes fluttered around the field. The plane constructed by Elmer Luckenbach, Ferguson, Mo., won the contest for fuselage models, staying aloft for 213 seconds.

LINDBERGH'S MAY MAKE HASTY VISIT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(P)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh intend to visit the national air races in Chicago sometime before their conclusion, but the press of business here prevented the colonel from flying to Chicago today with his wife.

He told the Associated Press that when they do go they will be able to remain only for a brief visit.

Endurance Fliers' Reward 'Exaggerated'

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 26.—(P)—Forest O'Brien, member of the sustained flight endurance setting firm of Jackson and O'Brien, today said Bill Pickens, veteran sports promoter and manager for Dale Jackson and O'Brien, was calling "on his imagination" when he told reporters he had signed contracts totalling $37,000 for appearance of the fliers at state fairs.

The fliers were reported to have earned $8,800 while in the air. O'Brien said he had received only half of $7,000 donated by an oil company, $1,000 presented by a spark plug company, and $3,500 public subscription, totalling $11,500.

Chaney Never Knew a Day
Without Physical Suffering

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

(Special Dispatch to The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 26.—To the world at large, a famous name has passed from the screen. An actor 47 years of age has succumbed to a fatal illness after a gallant fight for life.

To the few who really knew Lon Chaney, a spirit which has never been free of sorrow and from pain since early childhood has made his last sad entry in the book of life.

It is reasonable to suppose that a little over a year ago when doctors warned Lon Chaney that he was in the grip of a fatal malady and must retire and rest, he looked out beyond for a moment as he had a way of doing, smiled and said, "Thank you, boys," and then went on in his own way. The only way he understood.

Perhaps it was that look of the beyond in Lon Chaney's eyes which has caused the studio where he was a star to receive a flood of telegrams each season, for many years now, inquiring as to whether or not he was ill, or even dying. They came in the days before his frailties took a grave turn.

Nobody has ever been able to trace the rumors. But great news services and famous editors have wired frantically from time to time, always under some strange conviction that this was no idle rumor.

Had Sensitive Spirit.

The last time I talked to Lon Chaney was on the set of "The Unholy Three." I was looking for an interview. He held my hand for a moment and looked beyond and through me.

"I don't like interviews," he said, "for interviews. But I think you and I could talk about a lot of things." Except for a certain fine transparency in his skin and a fire too intense for normality in his eyes, he did not give the impression of physical depletion. One got that more through the sense of his closeness of spirit to something the rest of us didn't feel. The lines in his face could have been etched there by experience and emotion as much as by pain.

But he has seldom known a day when physical suffering has not made his work twice the task it could be for any other actor. The weird characterizations which sapped his strength were the real things in a life of chimerical fantasy.

He first learned pantomime when trying to communicate with his parents, who were deaf and dumb. That is why there never were any waste gestures in Lon Chaney's work. He had been a pupil in a grim school with a true technique. He had never been to school since his ninth year when he stayed home to take care of his mother, who was ill. He had been a vanderbillian, a contortionist in a circus, and a creator of the most outstanding characterizations which the screen has given the world.

Was Master of Makeup.

Some of these grotesques were given to the public at a cost which no other actor would have paid. He wore harlequin costumes for many of the maimed figures in his stories, which could only be borne for ten minutes at a time. At the close of such working days he practically begged him to take him to his room and let him lie down. I never saw him at an opening or in a theater audience. I never glimpsed him on the streets of Hollywood. But often on the lot one found him standing in his shirt sleeves and with an old cap pulled down over his eyes, talking with the prop boys, the bootblacks, the newsies.

He compounded his own make-up out of secret formulas on which he spent much of his time away from the studio. It was bad for one with his weak constitution to inhale those chemicals. But it was a part of his life and he never stopped to think of it in terms of anything but inevitability. His dressing table looked like a chemist's bench. His make-up glass was a bit of cracked mirror nailed to the wall. His dressing room like a hall bedroom in some shabby boarding house. And the room beyond, with its iron bedstead and the confusion of costumes, a strange revelation in the soul of a man who had no time to think of little things.

Finds Freedom From Pain.

He wore felt pads in his mouth much of the time to effect the radical changes in appearance that he was able to make. This was one reason he held out from talkies—the fact that an unobstructed tone was demanded and therefore he could not use some of the greatest of his make-up tricks. He put irritants into his eyes when he wanted to play some poor bit of Flotsam tossed up in a waterfront dive—yet each one of these things was lessening his stay in the world of men.

He worked on for an entire year with the dark shadow of death at his elbow because he has never been away from the shadow of pain and perhaps the death which awaited had some of the brightness of release for him. The man of a thousand faces never let the world glimpse his own face. A beautiful tortured countenance that El Greco might have painted. The eyes which are closed today are gazing for the first time in 47 years on scenes of utter peace.

Mississippi Farmer Kills Child and Self

TUPELO, Miss., Aug. 26.—(P)—A. A. Bolton, 50-year-old Lee county farmer living six miles west of here, took the life of his six-year-old daughter, Ruby, with a butcher knife, then went to an unoccupied neighborhood house, and blew out his brains with a shotgun. He was the father of three children and the step-father of two.

Lat yesterday his wife and step-children were away from home. Without any warning to the three youngsters, the farmer emerged from the house to the porch with a butcher knife and attacked the eldest of the children, according to the two younger ones, who fled for their lives.

County Vote Buying Charge
Investigated by Grand Jury

Inquiry Into Disbursement of Fund Started—Contempt Charge Is Changed.

Receding from its original position that C. M. Holland, county purchasing agent, was in contempt of court when he refused to make known to them names of contributors to an alleged county primary fund of $7,000, the grand jury Tuesday amended its petition to Judge John D. Humphries and set forth that it intends to investigate whether votes were "bought" during the last election.

The change of the grand jury's attitude in the contempt citation came as a surprise Tuesday and resulted in an admission by Assistant Solicitor Ed A. Stephens that names of contributors to the primary fund were "not at all essential" to the grand jury's probe.

Mr. Holland had been cited by Judge Humphries to show why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court "unless there be a specific charge involved" in the movement of the purchasing agent by the grand jury. T. J. Lyon, foreman of the jury, in asking the purchasing agent be so adjudged as a result of his previous refusal to furnish the grand jury a list of county employees who had contributed to the fund.

Mark Bolding, counsel for Mr. Holland, objected to action which would force the agent to make public the names of the contributors, declaring that there was no law against campaign contributions, and insisting that Holland could not be forced to become an informer or a spy.

In setting up a specific charge on which to base its amended action, the grand jury is investigating an alleged improper expenditure of a part of the $7,000 in "buying votes" in the election.

C. McDuffie, an attorney and a member of the grand jury, declared that the grand jury was carrying on an inquisitorial probe of a matter in general, and that the grand jury "had reason to believe" that the money collected and distributed by Mr. Holland as treasurer of the alleged employees' fund had amounted to several thousands of dollars, "some of which was used for the purpose of buying votes." For this reason, he asserted, it was essential that Holland be compelled to give such information as may be desired.

Judge Humphries declared that he would hold the matter in abeyance pending the return of the grand jury. The court's opinion was rendered after Mr. Holland, through Mr. Bolding, had demurred to the amended petition of the grand jury, the demurrer contending that the grand jury had no authority to force him to answer not made questions regarding identity of contributors or sums contributed.

It was announced that at the next session of the grand jury Mr. Holland will be summoned to appear and give testimony in regard to the manner in which the money was spent. This Mr. Holland agreed to do, and the hearing was adjourned.

The democrats, in session at St. Anthony, voted not to put a candidate in the field against the veteran Borah, who was assured of renomination at the republican convention here.

Nominations in this state are made by the direct primary system.

While desiring to offer no opposition to Senator Borah, the democrats voted to name candidates to oppose the state's two representatives in congress—Burton L. French and Addison T. Smith, both republicans. Candidates are expected to be nominated tomorrow.

CAROLINA REDS GIVEN
UNTIL SEPTEMBER 22Bonds of $27,000 Shall Be Declared Forfeited Then,
Judge Orders.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 26.—(P)—The state of North Carolina moved today to claim the $27,000 bond of seven men convicted of second degree murder of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia chief of police.

The names of the seven, leaders in the strike at Gastonia last year, were called in Mecklenburg superior court following receipt of the supreme court's decision denying them a new trial. None responded.

Presiding Judge Walter Moore then ordered a capias issued for them and directed that their bondsmen be notified to appear at the next term of court, set for September 22, to show cause why the bonds should not be forfeited. The bonds were posted by the American fund for public service when the men appealed from their conviction last October.

Three of the men—Fred Erwin Beal, Lawrence, Mass., leader of the strike; Clarence Miller, Brooklyn, N. Y., and George Carter, Mizpah, N. J., are understood here to be in Berlin, Beal, Miller, Carter and Joseph Harrison, of Passaic, N. J., are under sentence of 17 to 20 years in state prison.

W. M. McGinnis and Louis McLaughlin, of Gastonia, are under sentence of 12 to 17 years, and K. Y. Hendricks, Gastonia, 5 to 7 years. J. Frank Flowers, of Charlotte, attorney for the men, sought unsuccessfully to have the case continued until the next term of court, Judge Moore overruling motions to this effect.

Aderholt was shot down the night of June 7, 1929, near the headquarters of the National Textile Workers Union in Gastonia. The state contended the seven defendants charged with his murder conspired to kill him.

DEKALB COUNTY VOTERS HEAR JAMES A. PERRY

Says Georgia's Present Situation Is Because Politicians Have Been in Charge.

DECATUR, Ga., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—In a speech at the DeKalb courthouse here tonight James A. Perry stressed the necessity for a business administration for Georgia's affairs, and declared that all of the other candidates in the race were unfitted to render such service because of their long political affiliations.

"In my views of the questions that should appeal to the serious thought of the voters in this campaign," the speaker declared, "I have no doubt if it makes any difference which one of my four opponents is elected, if perchance either one is. It is my solemn judgment that it means a continuation of the reign of politics and 'two-by-four' politicians, both of which have brought us to the humiliating state in which we find ourselves at this time. Stated differently, the public will be stung, as usual, with either one of the four. Under the Russell-Rivers-Carswell alliance, each of the gentlemen is seeking to perpetuate, we have, under their legislative judgment during the past, increased our government cost, all told for all purposes, to the staggering sum of $26,000,000 more per year than it was when these gentlemen began to legislate along harmonious lines. Mr. Russell is especially adapted for harmonious work. He demonstrates this by showing how harmoniously our increase of $26,000,000 has come about, particularly under his leadership during the four years he has been speaker.

"We are not going to correct any of the evils of which we complain until we get rid of politics and politicians, and of the type reflected in the official careers of each of my four opponents. The only thing that enabled Mr. Holder to muster courage sufficient to face the people of this state, after the disgraceful waste of money as chairman of the highway department, is due to the fact that he entertains the hope, with a reasonable division among four others, that he may slip through the crack while the people are concerned with others. There is not a respectable white man in Georgia, single-handed, that couldn't beat John Holder for governor.

"We owe in excess of $8,000,000 to our public schools and school teachers, saying nothing of the disgraceful manner in which our institutions at Milledgeville and Alto have been neglected, and quite as much the failure to discharge our obligation to our old soldiers. We have borrowed all the money we can get, and the government is powerless to do more. First, we must pay our debts, which can be done by commercializing the overhead rights of our railroad and terminal property in Atlanta and our non-railroad property in Chattahoochee, in the form of long leases; and once we are out of debt we must stay out of debt. We must have a budget system.

"We find our answer to the deplorable conditions obtaining in Georgia at this time in the fact that politics and politicians have been in charge. It is the type of politics reflected in Mr. Holder's management, and he is presumed to speak for Mr. Holder, who says, 'We have to run the government by the rule of politics, put the bait on a long pole and hold it out in front of them the idea from behind.' When might we have for the balance of his life and he could never write a more correct description of the official career of Mr. Holder than the one he recently criticized me for quoting."

Holder To Deliver 25 Talks in 10 Days

John N. Holder, candidate for governor, launched a whirlwind campaign through the northeast section of Georgia on Thursday in which he will set a new record for Georgia in rapid-fire political speaking.

He is scheduled for 15 short talks to be delivered Thursday in the towns of Ila, Danielsville, Colbert, Comer, Carlton, Elberton, Bowman, Hartwell, Lavonia, Carnesville, Martin, Toccoa, Cornelia and Clarksville.

On Friday Holder will deliver ten speeches in the towns of Tallulah Falls, Tiger, Clayton, Hiwassee, Young Harris, Blairsville, Dahlonega, Dawsonville, Cumming and Alpharetta.

He will be accompanied by the American Legion band of Jefferson, and his speeches will be made from the truck that carries the band.

Mr. Holder will fill an engagement at Statesboro Saturday and next week will make a wide sweep throughout Georgia, speaking two and three times a day.

Russell Explains Increase in Taxes

THOMASVILLE, Ga., August 26. (Special.)—Richard B. Russell, Jr., candidate for governor, demanded that his opponents tell the people how much they propose to reduce the highway income and the equalization fund for the common schools, in a speech here which dealt with statements of his opponents which he described as misleading.

"Repeated efforts are being made," he said, "to mislead the people by charging that the cost of government has increased over 20 millions of dollars in the past ten years and that I am responsible.

"Everybody knows that practically all of this increase is represented by the taxes on gasoline and the tag taxes and I assume all the responsibility that should attach to me for trying to provide for the highway department without a huge bond issue.

"I do pledge my best efforts to see that every dollar of the highway funds is spent on building roads and not in trying to further the political ambition of any individual. I at least kept down the cost of government by killing the bills providing for salary increases for Mr. Perry and Mr. Carswell, despite their active lobbying."

Record in Senate Cited by Rivers

ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Having spoken at Lexington, Rutledge and Social Circle during the day, Ed Rivers addressed a fourth meeting at Athens Tuesday night, at which he cited his work in the state senate for the schools of the state and outlined what he proposed to do as governor, if elected.

"I was co-author of the school equalization bill," he said, "and I pushed this bill through to passage while in the state senate of Georgia. I have this bill to thank for enabling them to remain open for a full nine-month term. Over a million and a half dollars was made available for this purpose, without which most of these schools would have been forced to close their doors to our rural children."

Slaton and Harris Pound Each Other

Meeting To Decide on Program Will Be Held at Biltmore Hotel Thursday.

Senator William J. Harris and former Governor John M. Slaton, both seeking the senatorial nomination in the September 10 primary, today continued their campaign, the former with a statement from his headquarters and the latter with a speech at Monroe.

The occasional speeches of Senator Harris "have been greeted by overflowing courtesies, enthusiastic responses and personal greetings," the Harris statement read, while "small and unsympathetic audiences" are greeting Mr. Slaton.

The utter lack of reaction and responsive sympathy shows that Slaton is making a hopeless uphill fight in his campaign," the statement read.

Mr. Slaton termed the record of Senator Harris "one of undeviating and undeniable extravagance," and said that "those who enjoy being taxed, and would like to be taxed more, will vote for Senator Harris."

"If you re-elect him, my friends," he said, "you will thereby serve notice on your next governor of Georgia and your next legislature that taxation is delightful to you, and that the more they put upon you the better you will like it."

Tenth Anniversary Of Suffrage Passed

The tenth anniversary of woman's suffrage was observed in Atlanta Tuesday at a luncheon sponsored by the League of Women Voters. Mrs. R. L. Turman, former president of the league, gave a talk in which she called attention to the growth of the organization in the past and the progress to be expected in the future. During the ten years of its existence the league's membership has grown from 300 to 1,000 and progress in other respects has been proportionate, Mrs. Turman stated.

The local celebration marked the inception of a national campaign, under the leadership of the National Women's Party, for the addition of a 20th amendment to the constitution providing that "men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States, and in every place subject to its jurisdiction. The new movement, it is said, aims at absolute equality of legal, political and economic—the two sexes.

School Population Nears 66,000 Mark

School population of the borough of Atlanta for the term opening September 8 is expected to hit the 66,000 mark, according to estimates of M. E. Coleman, director of census and attendance.

Registrations for new students are averaging about 200 a day. All registrations are being made on the tenth floor of the city hall.

Last year there were 64,500 who were listed as students in the system.

Pay Roll of $400,000 Will Be Met by City

Atlanta will meet its September 1 pay roll amounting to approximately $400,000, it was announced Tuesday by Mayor J. N. Ragsdale.

Included in the amount is about $225,000 for salaries for Atlanta school teachers. Checks will be distributed Saturday, Monday being Labor Day.

Fear was expressed several weeks ago as to the ability of the borough to meet its obligation due to lack of funds.

Georgia Leaders Plan Big Campaign To 'Sell' State

Meeting To Decide on Program Will Be Held at Biltmore Hotel Thursday.

Hundreds of Georgia's most historic spots and the beauty lure of the state will be "sold" to the nation in a state-wide campaign in an effort to attract tourists to the Empire state, it was announced Tuesday night by Colonel Fred J. Paxon, president of the Atlanta Convention Bureau, one of the prime movers in the drive.

Backed by convention bureaus, motor clubs, hotel men and chambers of commerce from all over the state, the drive will be carried to the entire nation, according to plans of proponents.

A preliminary meeting incident to launching the campaign is to be held Thursday at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

Printing of a pamphlet noting the historic places and the most beautiful drives and spots in the state is now in progress. It will be widely distributed to an aid to the effort, Mr. Paxon said.

PLANS COMPLETE.

CANDLER ASSERTS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Organized and statewide efforts to bring to Georgia its fair share of tourist traffic will be made at a meeting to be held Thursday in Atlanta, it was learned here today.

William Candler, it is understood, has issued invitations to a number of Georgia's most prominent financiers, businessmen and industrial leaders, to meet and discuss the plans through which its objects may be brought to fruition.

This was discussed here today by Howard E. Coffin and C. F. Redden, the latter leaving tonight for Atlanta to take part in the proposed campaign. Speaking of the plans which have been made, he said: "In a way we are taking a leaf out of the books of Florida and California, which have benefited more by the tourist traffic than any other states in the Union. It is not generally recognized that these two states receive a greater number of dollars from the tourists who pay annual visits than from almost any other of their recognized industries. Not only that but a large number of the people who pay these states visits and enjoy their climate and natural resources become permanent residents and build up the state in which they locate, for in almost all cases they are people of means."

"What we want to do is to have the people of Georgia understand that when a tourist visits a hotel or other resort the money he spends is put in circulation where he is. It means more men and women at work, helps the department and other stores and creates a general prosperity.

"To this end it is proposed that a state-wide organization be formed, with members in every county, city and town of the state, which will work towards bringing the tourist traffic, at present passing through our state in large numbers to Florida, to recognize that we have just as much to offer as can be found elsewhere.

"There are millions of dollars ahead for Georgia if this is done and the only thing needed is to interest the entire state and have it understood that when a tourist brings in outside money the hotel, restaurant or garage which profits by this turns over a fair share of the returns to the other residents of the community, building up a prosperity which did not before exist."

Heifetz Bids Farewell To Master With Music

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(P)—With a simple, beautiful melody which he seldom plays except as an encore, a famous pupil bade farewell to his master today.

It was the "Ave Maria" of Schubert, and Jascha Heifetz played it as the funerals of Leopold Auer, who died a few weeks ago in Dresden. To New York, scene of the triumphs of his famous pupils, his widow had brought his body for burial.

A score of musicians, whose names are famous the world over, gathered to pay their final tribute to the master of violinists, who died a few weeks ago in Dresden. To New York, scene of the triumphs of his famous pupils, his widow had brought his body for burial.

Heifetz was one of the pallbearers, and so was Toscha Seidel, another of Dr. Auer's distinguished proteges. Other pallbearers were Mischa Elman, Josef Hoffman, Joseph Achron, Paul Stassevitch, Ernest Hutcheson, Prince Alexis Obolensky and Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times.

The Russian Cathedral choir participated in the service, and the very Rev. Leonid Purkevitch, dean of the cathedral, officiated.

Summer - Like Weather Is Due To Stay Awhile

Atlanta's official thermometer Tuesday jumped 2 points over the previous day's high of 86 but indications are that for the next day or so the mercury will not climb above 90. Fair weather is to continue today, Director C. F. von Hermann says.

Except in southern Texas, moderate temperatures are generally prevailing.

Crown Hill Cemetery Company Is Organized

Organization of the Crown Hill Cemetery and Mausoleum Company, with acquisition by the new company of 85 per cent of the old company, formerly Crest Lawn cemetery, was announced Tuesday by T. R. Sawtell, president of the new organization.

Mr. Sawtell announced that the beautiful entrance on Chattahoochee avenue will be retained as the main entrance to those parts of Crown Hill that already are known as the old Crown Hill and others. The company also has taken over the main "um" and will operate it in conjunction with Crown Hill cemetery.

"It is the aim of the management to conduct Crown Hill along the lines laid down by the old cemetery, and the company also wishes to announce that many improvements are anticipated," President Sawtell stated.

Alabama Democrats Choose Strategist

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 26.—(P)—Jerome T. Fuller, of Centerville, and for two terms member of the Alabama house of representatives, today was named as chairman of the democratic campaign committee. Naming a committee of seven to conduct the campaign "in such a manner as they deem best with the end in view of securing in November, a harmonious, complete and overwhelming democratic victory," was authorized in the resolution naming Fuller.

GADSDEN, Ala., Aug. 26.—(P)—John J. Isbell, Fort Payne attorney, today was nominated by republicans of the seventh congressional district as the party's congressional candidate in the November general election. Isbell will oppose Miles C. Allgood, the democratic nominee.

Isbell was nominated by acclamation. The district convention endorsed all resolutions passed by the state republican convention at Birmingham last week.

Opening of Highway Asked for Holiday

Highway officials Tuesday were requested to allow motorists to travel on the main road between Gainesville and Baldwin during the coming week-end, on account of holiday crowds that are expected to go to Lakenont, Tallulah Falls, Clayton, Highlands and Franklin in the mountain sections of north Georgia and North Carolina.

Officials of the department said the detour, which is only 20 miles out of the way, is in good condition, extending from Gainesville to Baldwin by Maysville and Homer. Until recently, the detour ended at Lula, but work has now begun on that stretch. A contract for paving the last stretch, between New Holland and Lula, is to be let here September 12.

The detour, so long as the weather remains dry, is in excellent condition, being an old federal aid project of sand and clay construction and about one-half of which is wider than the more modern roads.

Inquiries at the office of the highway commission Tuesday indicated that large crowds planned to spend the Labor Day holidays in the Lake Rebus and Highlands, N. C. sections.

Stowaways Go Back.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 26.—(P)—Seventeen stowaways who arrived here August 12 in one of the ballast tanks of the British steamship Misty Hall, departed today on the same vessel. Ten are Portuguese, six Chinese and one is Spanish. They will put ashore at the points at which they secretly boarded the ship three weeks ago, the Chinese at Trinidad and the others at Rio Janeiro.

Zoning Board Defers Action on Miniatures

A scheduled meeting of the board of zoning appeals was deferred Tuesday afternoon until 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Establishment of two new miniature golf courses is among the major matters to be considered.

One of the courses which a petition seeks to construct would be at the northeast corner of Moreland and Glenwood avenues, and the other in the rear of 1013 Delaware avenue.

Tennessee Inquiry Gives Life To Hunt for Fair and Aiken

Chattanooga Suspects Prove To Have No Connection With Local Case. No "Leads" Developed.

A long distance telephone inquiry from Chattanooga late Tuesday afternoon gave new life to the officials of Sheriff J. L. Lowry's office in their search for Fred Fair and Sam F. Aiken, escaped slayers, after a dead calm had stilled the efforts of local officials in their hunt for the fugitive pair. A dispatch from the Tennessee city Tuesday night stated that after an arrest had been made, the suspects were released, officers being convinced that they had no connection with the local case.

After every other clue had led to a cold-dead end in the official investigation looking to their whereabouts, officers Tuesday afternoon once more took interest in the probability of their capture when the sheriff of Hamilton county, Tennessee, telephoned Chief Deputy Claude E. Register to get a more detailed description of the men.

It was learned that the officers in the Tennessee city had been following the movements of two suspicious characters in Chattanooga for several hours, keeping them under close surveillance, and as a result, it was said, of a close resemblance to the pair of Atlanta desperadoes, an arrest was expected at any moment.

No New "Leads." Aside from the Tennessee inquiry, however, nothing occurred to give local authorities a new "lead" on the case, and the other phase of the county inquiry into the escape—that being conducted by the solicitor-general's office to track down all persons who might have played a part in the elaborate plans laid for several weeks before the break was made—also lulled Tuesday. Assistant Solicitor Ed A. Stephens admitting that so far no witness he has questioned has provided a single clue upon which action might be taken.

Mr. Stephens' intention to close all technicalities against possible further legal consideration of the case against Fair was postponed Tuesday because of other business, but late in the afternoon he assured newspapermen he would "take care of it first thing in the morning." This will take the form, he said, of a special motion for dismissal of the plea of Fair's attorney for a rehearing of the high court's recent action in upholding the procedure and sentence of death placed upon Fair by trial courts.

Aiken, who would have gone to the electric chair at Milledgeville on September 1, Tuesday appeared to have at least made a strong bid for a self-ordered stay of execution, even in the event he is recaptured after the official date of execution. At the courthouse it was pointed out that unless he is taken into custody by that date it will be necessary for new sentences.

Davison's Names Lee Silk Department Head

The Davison-Paxon company Tuesday announced that R. J. Lee, well known in the silk business in Atlanta for the past 20 years, has become manager of the second floor silk department of the Peachtree street department store.

"Placing back of Mr. Lee the tremendous resources of Macy's, New York through the Davison-Paxon Company, will prove welcome news to Atlanta women," Beaumont Davison, chairman of the board of directors of Davison Paxon Company, said Tuesday.

R. J. LEE.

Mr. Lee's many years of experience in the silk business have taught him to know just what Atlanta women want, and the results he will secure here through taking advantage of this store's tremendous purchasing power with Macy's, I believe, will be an irresistible combination for Atlanta women.

Search for Student Spurred by Reward

A six-month-old quest for Morgan P. Moore, Jr., University of North Carolina student, was renewed here Tuesday with the posting of a $500 reward for information leading to his return. Young Moore disappeared February 28, last, and neither relatives nor authorities have discovered any trace of him since that time.

Moore, though six feet tall, is of slender build, weighing 142 pounds. He has bright black eyes and dark hair.

Fond of poetry, classical music and literary works, he probably has assumed the name of one of the great authors, his friends say—possibly that of Edgar A. Poe, his favorite.

The chief of police of Asheville, N. C., is directing the search for Moore and should be notified of any information concerning his whereabouts.

Assembly Aspirants Promise School Aid

Several of the dozen candidates for the Georgia legislature seeking the three posts from Fulton county, have given 100 per cent commitments to back anything beneficial to the Atlanta public school system, it was announced Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of a special legislative committee of the board of education.

Commissioner E. R. Sweet, of the tenth ward, chairman of the committee, and Commissioner J. Ira Harrellson, of the fourth, another member of the committee, reported that they had interviewed several members privately and had received 100 per cent assurance of co-operation.

Names of none of these interviewed were announced, and the commissioners stated they did not feel at liberty to divulge their names.

Several angles of the committee's attempt to raise additional revenue were discussed, but no definite conclusions were reached. The committee adjourned subject to further call of the chairman.

Negro Under Bond As Still Operator

Hardy Ellison, Fayette county negro, was held under bail of $300 Tuesday by United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith after federal prohibition agents testified that they found a 500-gallon wood still, 150 gallons of newly manufactured whisky and 1,500 gallons of beer on his premises.

'Freshmen Week' Will Mark Reopening of Emory's Year

Annual "Freshmen Week" at Emory University, marking the opening of the ninety-fourth session of the institution, begins September 23, it was announced Tuesday by President Harvey W. Cox.

The summer session, closing August 29, had an enrollment of 820 as compared with 816 last session. Sixty-nine of these summer school students will receive degrees at the convocation this week.

Students returning for the fall session will find numerous improvements under way on the campus. A new athletic field, 250 by 400 feet, will be completed before the opening of the fall term, while the Wilbur Fisk Glenn Memorial auditorium, with its 140-foot tower, will be rising rapidly.

Chi Phi's Building. The Chi Phi fraternity house, the fourth to be built on the new row on the campus, will be completed and occupied at the coming session.

Five new instructors are to join the faculty. Rev. W. T. Watkins is the new professor of church history, succeeding the late Dr. Plato Durham. Dr. Watkins is an alumnus of Emory and has done graduate work in church history at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, and has completed residence requirements for the degree of Ph.D. at Yale.

Garland C. Smith, now completing requirements for a Ph.D. degree at Harvard, has been appointed assistant professor of English to fill the vacancy created by the death of Dr. James Hinton. Mr. Smith was a former member of the faculty at Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas.

Physics Professor. Dr. Harris Purks, a graduate of Emory and a Ph.D. at Columbia, will succeed Dr. F. J. Studer, who resigned, as assistant professor of physics. Dr. Purks has been on the faculty of Columbia since his graduation there.

Philip E. Glenn, a graduate of the University of Kentucky with an M. A. degree, will be instructor in economics, succeeding Fred K. Hardy, who resigned to accept a fellowship at the University of Wisconsin.

Avery W. Bickley, M.A. at Emory, will become instructor in psychology, succeeding M. C. Langhorne, who has been granted a year's leave of absence for graduate study.

Dr. John P. Corry, of the department of history, after a two-year leave of absence, returns to the faculty and has been promoted to an assistant professorship. Dr. Corry's place was filled last year by Paul M. Sparlin, who leaves for advanced study elsewhere.

Dr. Gossnell Promoted. Another promotion announced by President Cox is that of Dr. Cullen D. Gossnell, who has been made assistant professor of history and government.

In the school of medicine, Dr. George B. Adams, professor of bacteriology, has resigned. Dr. Roy E. Kracke has been promoted to the

Per Capita Taxation Proposal Is Dropped

Councilman Nelson T. Spratt, of the tenth ward, chairman of the tax committee of council, announced Tuesday that a proposal he had intended to submit to the committee this afternoon to tax every adult in Atlanta $10 to get more revenue from operation of the borough government, will not be offered.

"Times are too hard to impose such a tax at this time," Spratt declared. "I have thought the matter over and decided to defer any action along this line for the present time."

Nervous Headaches Stopped in 3 minutes

When one of these sick, nervous headaches come and you want three-minute relief, go to any drug store or soda fountain and ask for a package or dose of "B-C" (10c and 25c packages) the wonderful new preparation of a North Carolina druggist that is guaranteed safe and speedy, without depression or bad after effects.

"B-C" relieves any kind of a headache, sciatic, neuralgic or female pain, because it contains several ingredients that function together for the relief of pain, regardless of its origin. The "B-C" formula is one of the most important medical discoveries of recent years, accomplishing in a few minutes what no one drug formula can do under 10 to 15 hours.

'DIVORCE SCHOOLS, COUNCIL'—DR. BURNS

Separate Raising of Finance Also Is Favored.

Atlanta public schools should be divorced from council and clothed with authority to raise their own finances, according to Dr. McIntosh M. Burns, president, but no effort should be made at this time to increase taxes.

This, in substance, is the position of the school board, who Tuesday issued a statement outlining his views. "We do not favor increased taxes, but separate taxes for the schools," Dr. Burns declared.

"Atlanta spends more money on capital outlay out of current revenue than any other city of its size. I do not criticize the city for repairing bridges and widening streets when necessary, instead of waiting for a bond issue. But the same methods should be employed by the schools, and could be, if we had our own separate taxes."

Bank Robbed. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 26.—(P)—The Main Street State bank was robbed of $10,500 today by a man who escaped in a motor car with a companion before police arrived from the 19th street station, a block away, in answer to a burglar alarm.

Club Will Support Judge Humphries

Organization of the Thirteenth Ward Humphries Club, to support the candidacy of Judge John D. Humphries, dean of the superior court bench in Fulton county, will take place at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at the Samuel Inman school, it was announced Tuesday by Oliver Dolvin, secretary.

The affair will be strictly in the interest of Judge Humphries' candidacy for re-nomination in the primary of September 10, the announcement sets out. The school is located at Virginia avenue and Park drive.

THOROUGHLY DEPENDABLE AS A GOOD FRIEND SHOULD BE

It is easy to understand why the men and women who drive Oldsmobiles speak of their cars as they would speak of a good friend. For these men and women have found in Oldsmobile the first requisite of friendship. They have found character—and the kind of character that carries with it an unfailing capacity to serve long and well.

To these owners, Oldsmobile has proved itself always dependable . . . always alert, faithful, and eager to go.

They know from long experience that Oldsmobile is an every-day, all-weather friend . . . that it is deserving of their confidence and worthy of their trust.

Too, these men and women know exactly why their Oldsmobiles serve so well. They know that Oldsmobile's design is right, achieved by the combined talents of Oldsmobile and General Motors engineers. They know that its beautiful body by Fisher is staunch in every respect. They know that the car has been tested and proved on the General Motors Proving Ground. Most important of all, they know that Oldsmobile is pledged to fine car standards and built to do all things well.

Oldsmobile is thoroughbred. You can rely upon it to serve you capably and honestly, asking little in return. It will prove itself to you, in the way it is proving itself to thousands of owners—thoroughly dependable, as a good friend should be.

Art School of the High Museum Resumes Activities September 8

Fall activities of the High Museum of Art will be resumed with the opening Monday, September 8, of the day and night classes of the art school of the museum. Under the instruction of Benjamin Shute and Robert Rogers, graduates of Art Institute of Chicago, courses in figure study, design, composition, illustration, advertising, figure and portrait painting, etching and allied subjects will be offered at the institution. In view of limited class room space the school will be smaller than on preceding years, thus affording each student a more personally supervised course of instruction. Enrollment for this season should be made at an early date.

Tuesday, September 9, free classes for the children of members of the Atlanta Art Association, which are to be held from 4 to 5 o'clock, will be opened. These weekly periods have for some time been instrumental in discovering and developing the artistic talent of countless numbers of children throughout the city and instilling a love of art in its purest form.

Free classes for pupils of the junior and senior high schools of the city, which are to be held from 9 until 11 o'clock, will be opened Saturday, September 13, at the museum. Outstanding high school pupils are afforded the privilege of these classes which in preceding years have proven the inspiration of much original and serious work.

An attractive program of exhibitions has been arranged for the coming winter, each to be reviewed preceding its opening at the museum. Outstanding artists and representative shows of the various branches of art will be included in this series of exhibits. Lewis Palmer Skidmore is director of the museum.

Could Hardly Do Her Work

"When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could hardly do my housework. I was so nervous and weak from Change of Life that I had to lie down very often. I heard about the Vegetable Compound in a booklet which was left at my door. I am doing all the housework for a family of four and it keeps me on my feet. I have taken six bottles and I have gained strength and flesh."—Minnie E. Hicks, R. R. #2, Rushville, Indiana.

Mrs. George Fort Milton Addresses Atlanta League of Women Voters

Mrs. George F. Milton, of Chattanooga, Tenn., who was president of the Tennessee Woman's Suffrage Association at the time of the ratification of the suffrage amendment in 1901, addressed the tenth anniversary luncheon meeting of the Atlanta League of Women Voters, which was held yesterday at the Davidson-Paxson in a private dining room. Her subject was "How Tennessee Ratified the Nineteenth Amendment." She stressed the fact that women in every county in Tennessee organized and interviewed legislators, with the purpose of securing their promise to support the ratification. Thirty-five states had already ratified and it required a thirty-sixth state before the law became effective. "The same spirit which animated the state suffrage league, having been in the Atlanta League of Women Voters," declared Mrs. Milton, who is herself a Georgian, having been in the Atlanta League of Women Voters, the celebration being introduced by Mrs. L. T. Trenchman, past president of the Atlanta League, who presided at the meeting.

Program Given.
Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, president of the Georgia League of Women Voters, gave the invocation, and Mrs. Beaumont Davidson and Mrs. Fred J. Paxson made short talks. Mrs. Davidson was an officer in the central committee of women citizens, an organization which was the successor of the city democratic committee, which gave the vote to the women of Atlanta, both of which preceded the establishment of the League of Women Voters. Mrs. Palmer Johnson, a former president of the state suffrage league, chose for her subject, "How Georgia Didn't." Mrs. Murray Hubbard read the nineteenth amendment, and Mrs. J. W. Mills presented a letter to the class held each summer under the auspices of the League. The orderly conduct of all meetings of the League is a goal toward which league officers are striving, and Mrs. Mills is planning to give a simple but comprehensive outline of the fundamental principles on which parliamentary procedure is based, and which all who attend, whether members of the league or not, to bring notebooks and pencils so as to be prepared to preserve a cutting in the minutes of the drill which is to follow the stating of these principles. Interested women are invited to take advantage of this splendid opportunity to add to their knowledge of parliamentary usage.

SHERLOCK HOLMES—"Silver Blaze"

At the train sped toward King's Pyland, Holmes told me further details. "A savage blow on the head from some heavy weapon had killed Straker," he said. "On the high was a long, clean cut. The trainer must have defended himself vigorously, Watson, because in his left hand he held a small knife covered with blood. In his right he clasped a red and black cravat."

The maid, Edith Baxter, recognized the cravat as having been worn the preceding evening by the stranger who had visited the stables! So did Hunter, the stable boy, who was sure the visitor, while standing at the window, had dragged his curried mutton.

Suspect Taken

"Inspector Gregory promptly found and arrested the man upon whom suspicion naturally fell, Firry Simpson. He had squandered a fortune on the turf, and now lived by doing a little general bookmaking in the London sporting clubs. He had bet of five thousand pounds against Silver Blaze."

By SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

"As to the missing horse, there were abundant proofs in the mud at the bottom of the hollow that he had been there at the time of the struggle. Finally, an analysis of what Hunter had left of his supper, showed that the curried mutton contained a quantity of powdered opium. It is significant, Watson, that the family at the house partook of this same dish without ill effect!"

SON OF THE GODS

By REX BEACH

INSTALLMENT XVII.

"Together we shall pay," said Lee Ying. "Women mean nothing, your amusements do not concern me, but your future is another matter. It is a family matter; a matter that concerns the honor of our name. The girl insists that you marry her and the law is on her side. It is seemly that we abide by the laws and the customs of this country, no matter how senseless they appear as compared with our own. If you have done wrong, it is too late to argue; the price is set; there is no bargaining. You will marry her at once."

But the New Year approaches, when all our debts must be settled and when those who cannot pay must expiate—the lanterns are not put out until every account is closed. Those who have preceded us, as well as the living, are implacably firm in seeking what is their due and we—I, at least—have been false to them. I shall, therefore, meet my debt in the only honorable way. I could not live to see you linked in marriage to a woman of the sewer, and I doubt if you could long endure the disgrace of such a union. But that is for you to decide. The sword of our family hangs in my room. When you have set right your folly I shall ascend to Pan Y. If it please you to go hand in hand with me, as be it."

"May I speak?" Sam inquired hoarsely.

The father inclined his head. "Don't feel that I have condemned you without a hearing. Speak truthfully, therefore, and don't fear my anger for I have none."

"Well, there's no truth in the story," Sam declared. "It's all a lie."

A silence ensued which Lee Ying broke by asking: "You owe the girl nothing? . . . She has no claim on you?"

"Nothing! None whatever! This is extortion, blackmail. I've paid it in one way or another, to every American I ever knew. Yes, ever since I was a boy. The children here in this neighborhood always preyed on me. I had to buy their friendship. It has been the same in college. Men, women, they're all alike. They merely use me for their own profit. That girl you sent to Paris—she was willing to sell herself, for a price. She was as much as told me so, but I had some pride. This creature is even lower. She isn't fit to touch."

Lee Ying rose and went to his son, his lips were moving, his eyes were wet. He enfolded the boy in his arms, his bony hands caressed him, stroked him, patted him.

Lee Ying did not question his boy further, he was content with Sam's denial.

"We will say no more about it and you will forgive my faltering faith," he declared. "I rejoice that you have not defiled yourself. My heart is warmed, the sap rises in my limbs, there is a son on my side, I feel the peace and the happiness of one who, after much trouble, rests beside red poppy fields and sees the silkworms gorging on the mulberry trees. Sit here at my side and tell me, not about this vile experience, but about your studies and your play, your comings and your goings—the little things which a mother yearns to hear. I am both mother and father to you and you are both my son and my daughter; your honor is precious to me and in your voice I hear the music of harps and of mallets striking on temple bells. See? Tears come to my eyes. Humor me, for I am a foolish, starved old man. I would like to hold your hand in mine."

Chinatown was in something of a turmoil when Himes and his companion arrived at Lee Ying's for "settlement." The New Year's celebration was drawing to a close. Store fronts were decorated with banners, festoons of lights were strung across the streets and lanterns spun and danced in the wind. In spite of the cold there was a festival gaiety to the place, for the pavements were carpeted with confetti, gaudy streamers whipped and writhed and many doors were sealed with red paper to keep

Favorites Sweep Through Third Round of Georgia Tennis Meet

CRACKERS TAKE SECOND IN ROW FROM CHICKS

Macon and Mercer University just now are experiencing unfavorable publicity in eastern newspapers over an utterance of Mr. Brown Nicholson, president of the Macon Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Nicholson recently told the Lions Club that "money is necessary to support good athletic teams and unless we can pay the expenses of good football players at Mercer, they will keep going to Georgia and Tech." The remarks of Mr. Nicholson were broadcast through the Associated Press and used in full over the country. The backfire through editorial comment was decidedly unfavorable to Mercer, Macon, the Junior Chamber, Mr. Nicholson and, in a way, to Georgia and Tech. The inference is, of course, that Georgia and Tech pay expenses of their football players.

If Mr. Nicholson has information that Tech and Georgia are paying expenses of their football players, the Southern conference officials would appreciate the information and regretfully perform a painful duty.

MEANT NO HARM.

It is probable that Mr. Nicholson imagined he was talking just among us go-getters and had no idea his words would be flashed all over the country. If he could have foreseen the ill effect his opinions produced, he probably would not have advocated hiring athletes so bluntly. He could have used a bit of finesse at any rate.

One also feels sure that Mr. Nicholson did not mean exactly what he said, his protestations of frankness to the contrary. He probably meant that Macon civic leaders should establish certain athletic scholarships which are duly recognized in many associations as fitting and proper to help worthy students who happen to be able also to carry a mean football.

The S. I. A. A., of which Mercer is a member, no doubt would take prompt steps to thwart any such measures as eastern newspapers interpreted Mr. Nicholson's oration to advocate. Mercer authorities also have too much poise to permit any such carryings on with their athletes.

FOOTBALL TEAM VALUE OVERESTIMATED.

Anyhow, the civic value of a winning football team is considerably overestimated.

It cannot be said that the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech have put Atlanta on the map. Nor did the Bulldogs of Georgia put Athens on the map.

Both these communities were in operation and fairly well known long before the Yellow Jackets or the Bulldogs began hogging the headlines.

South Bend owes most of its prosperity to certain well-known manufacturing industries rather than the Notre Dame football team.

And New Haven remains just a sleepy little town in spite of the fact that Yale has been doing business there for years on end.

WHO REMEMBERS DANVILLE?

Once upon a time Danville, Ky., broke into the public prints as the home of the Centre College Colonels—yes, it was DANVILLE, in case you have forgotten the name.

Danville citizens spent a great deal of money one way and another on their football team, but the records do not show that they hired any of the players. Instead they paid out huge sums to the railroads to follow them over the country and to give them presents of an expensive nature and contribute to the fund to build a stadium.

Then the supply of football material gave out, or something, and the Colonels became just a member of the S. I. A. A. and a memory. Danville during that period did not increase in wealth and prosperity beyond normal expectation. They just had a great time while it lasted.

OTHER WAYS TO HELP.

The Macon boosters have not asked my advice, but that never halted me before when advice seemed needed.

If any loose change is in Macon aching to be spent, why not invest it in Mercer itself rather than in athletes who at best last only three years. Mercer will be there forever and always will be an asset.

JACK DEMPSEY.

Jack Dempsey is building a training camp just over the line in Mexico, where he will go into training soon to determine whether he can get in shape for fighting again. Dempsey has a tour of 30 refereeing engagements that will bring him before thousands of people from late in August until the first of October. Dempsey is in the best physical condition of his career since an operation removed a painful condition. Dempsey stands ready to help Young Stribling win the world's heavyweight championship.

These and many other items of information given the press by Leonard Sacks, Jack's business manager, are interesting because they concern the greatest single attraction in the world of professional sport today.

Four years after losing the heavyweight title to Gene Tunney in Philadelphia, Dempsey is the commanding figure in boxing whether as a referee, promoter or fighter. The virility of his presence is amazing. He is a deathless figure in a sport where the most famous have flashed and died out like sky-rockets.

Sharkey's Manager Draws Suspension

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Johnny Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey, was suspended indefinitely by the Rhode Island State Athletic commission today after a hearing on charges of "rowdy tactics, abusive treatment and creating a disturbance" at the ringside following the Andy Callahan-Sammy Fuller bout in Providence last night.

FAVORITES PASS THREE ROUNDS OF STATE MEET

Grant Leads Parade of Seeded Players at East Lake.

Young Ty Cobb Enters Tourney

Ty Cobb, Jr., son of the famous Georgia baseball player, and Burr Cabiness, former Georgia Tech tennis star, late Tuesday night entered the state doubles championship play at East Lake. They will meet Reginald Fleet and C. Gardner late this afternoon in a first round match.

By Roy White.

An embattled phalanx of favorites, led by defending champion, Bryan (Bitty) Grant, swept through third round matches in the Georgia state tennis tournament on the East Lake Country Club courts Tuesday afternoon without losing a single match.

With but one exception those favorites advanced without dropping more than five games during the course of their several matches. Lenoir Wright, of Charlotte, N. C., was the lone seeded player to strike a snag, being forced to work through three hours and 45 minutes of furious tennis before subduing the threat of Cary Wilmer, Atlanta star, at 7-5, 3-6, 6-4. It was not until late in the third set that the Tarheel finish was able to make his shots effective enough to assure him of the victory.

Grant himself lost but one game in turning back Lewis Baker, local player, at 6-0, 6-1. While DeMotte was helpless before Grant's "recurved" placements, smooth service and teasing lobs.

Jack Mooney, favored to face Grant in the final contest for the crown, experienced little trouble in winning from Bill Robertson, scores of 6-3, 6-1, although he was unable to try out strokes.

SIMPSON WINS.

Jack Simpson and Ralph DeMotte, both conceding chances to come through, came off the courts almost together after winning by almost identical scores. Simpson trounced Claude Bond at 6-0, 6-2, easing in the final set, while DeMotte took his time in the opening frame to win by counts of 6-2, 6-0 from Fincher McDaniel.

Harry Gault caught up with the field by sweeping Bob Nevitt aside at 6-0, 6-1, in a post-mortem second round match and later downing Ross Cheshire in the third round at 6-2, 6-1.

Jim Halverstadt won from K. Armstrong by scores of 6-2, 6-2, to be second hardest-pressed of the seeded contingent.

Al Halverstadt, Jimmy's brother, was moved into the third round and beat Jack Boykin, with the provision that a second round match with Caldwell Russell, of Louisville, would be played as a third round encounter should Russell arrive Wednesday morning.

Junior and boys' divisions followed the precedent of the men's play in moving the favorites up. Billy Reese, seeded first in the junior play in the absence of Wilmer Hines, of Columbia, S. C., titleholder, paced the junior advance, while George Boynton, of Atlanta, led the 13- and 14-year-olds. Play in the second round of the boys' singles will start at 8:30 o'clock this morning with the junior singles scheduled to start at 10:30 o'clock. The men's singles will continue in the third and fourth rounds at 3 o'clock and the women's singles are slated to start at 4:30 o'clock. Immediately after the women's singles are completed, play in the men's doubles will start.

The junior and boys' doubles will be played shortly after the noon hour.

Sandlots Arrive Today for Series

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Baseball's highest official, K. M. Landis, national commissioner, the president of the Southern association, John D. Martin, and a delegation of city officials and civic and business leaders headed by Mayor Watkins Overton, of Memphis, will act as an official committee of welcome when baseball teams from New Orleans and Baltimore arrive here tomorrow morning to compete as finalists in the American Legion's "junior world" series.

The first game of the series will be played at Russwood park, home of the Memphis Southern association club, Thursday.

The New Orleans team was due to arrive at 8 o'clock from Colorado Springs, where they won the western division title from the Long Beach (Cal.) club.

MEHRE COUNTS ON SOFT CREW FOR RESERVES

51 Candidates, 16 Lettermen Report for Practice Labor Day.

ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 26.—Fifty-one ambitious athletes will report to Harry Mehre next Monday morning for the beginning of the annual pre-season football training of the Georgia varsity squad.

Sixteen of the 51 boast a year or more of experience as members of the varsity football team, the rest are just boys from last year's freshman team who are eager to win places on the 30 Bulldogs football team.

The 16 lettermen include four guards, one tackle, a center, three ends and seven backfield men. In other words, all that Harry Mehre needs right now in order to put on two full football teams, which is about the least a coach can get along with for a full season, are three tackles, a center, two more backfield men, a couple more ends, and three or four extra linemen. None but the best need apply.

NEW SOPHOM.
If the 35 newly-made sophomores who report to Harry Mehre next Monday will deliver to him the number of players needed, with a few extra stars thrown in, he ought to be highly satisfied. And he probably will be.

But that's the whole problem in a nutshell for Harry Mehre and his four assistants in the job of turning out winning football teams for the University of Georgia. Will the boys deliver?

The regulars who will sport Georgia colors in the coming fall campaign and who have already won their laurels on previous Bulldog football squads are: Captain-Elect Hal Maffett, Catfish Smith, and Weddington Kelley, ends; Red Leathers, Red Maddox, Jimmy Patterson and Tiger Bennett, guards; Bobby Rose, tackle; Spero Tassapoulas, center, and Jack (The Ripper) Roberts, Austin Downes, Tommy Moran, Spurgeon Chandler, Marion Dickens, Armin Waugh and John Davidson, ball carriers.

TOUGH SCHEDULE.
Upon these regulars and the 35 newly-made sophomores and reserve men stars of last fall will report the job of facing ten of the hardest football teams ever undertaken by a Georgia team in one season's work. So a word to the wise, Bull Pup, will give an idea of what they have in their midst.

In spring training, Mehre had seven freshmen ends, and of the seven Mack Creashaw, Bush Tinsdale and Tom Collier looked good, with Dick Maxwell, Freddie Miller and Tom and Lem Clark running them a close second. Out of the bunch Mehre ought to get a few good ends for the fall campaign.

Six likely looking tackles were out showing their stuff in spring practice. Thorry Thornton, a reserve last fall, and Skinny Davis looked to be about the best of the bunch, although Swygert, Hamrick, Winn and Thurmond were not far behind.

GUARD MATERIAL.
Billy Hazlehurst and St. Reynolds looked like good potential varsity material at guard last spring, as did Jake Thorpe, Beck and Culbreath.

Vason McWhorter, of a well-known Georgia football family, and Tex Collins, all-Florida prep star two years ago, seemed to be slated to relieve Tassapoulas some next fall, while George Mumford and Bob Snelling were plugging away at the center jobs.

As for backfield men, Mehre has sophomore fullbacks, quarterbacks and halves galore. Eleven freshmen backfield stars of last fall will report next Monday. And the whole crop of 'em looked pretty good last spring. Sam Brown, Blondy Gaster, Jim Gilmore, Buster Motz, Sully Sullivan, Charley Hardin, Homer Keyes, Specs Eberhardt, Leroy Young, Ed Hamilton and Jimmy Stoinoff are the backfield candidates.

Thirty-five green men with which to develop reserves may look good enough for Harry Mehre to add to his 16 lettermen, but a lot of water will flow under some bridges before the boys develop into varsity stars.

Yacht Candidates Rest for Fifth Day
NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Today marked the fifth day of inactivity for the four candidates for the defense of the America's cup against Sir Thomas Lipton's fifth Shamrock.

After waiting in vain for a breeze from 11:40 a. m. to 3 p. m., the race committee reluctantly hoisted a signal postponing practice competition for the day.

Crackers Announce Three Games Monday
Atlanta will play three games Monday with Mobile unless prevented by an unexpected league ruling, it was announced Tuesday night by R. J. Spiller, business manager and vice president of the Crackers.

At the same time it was announced that a proposed Sunday game, with all proceeds to go to charity, had been abandoned.

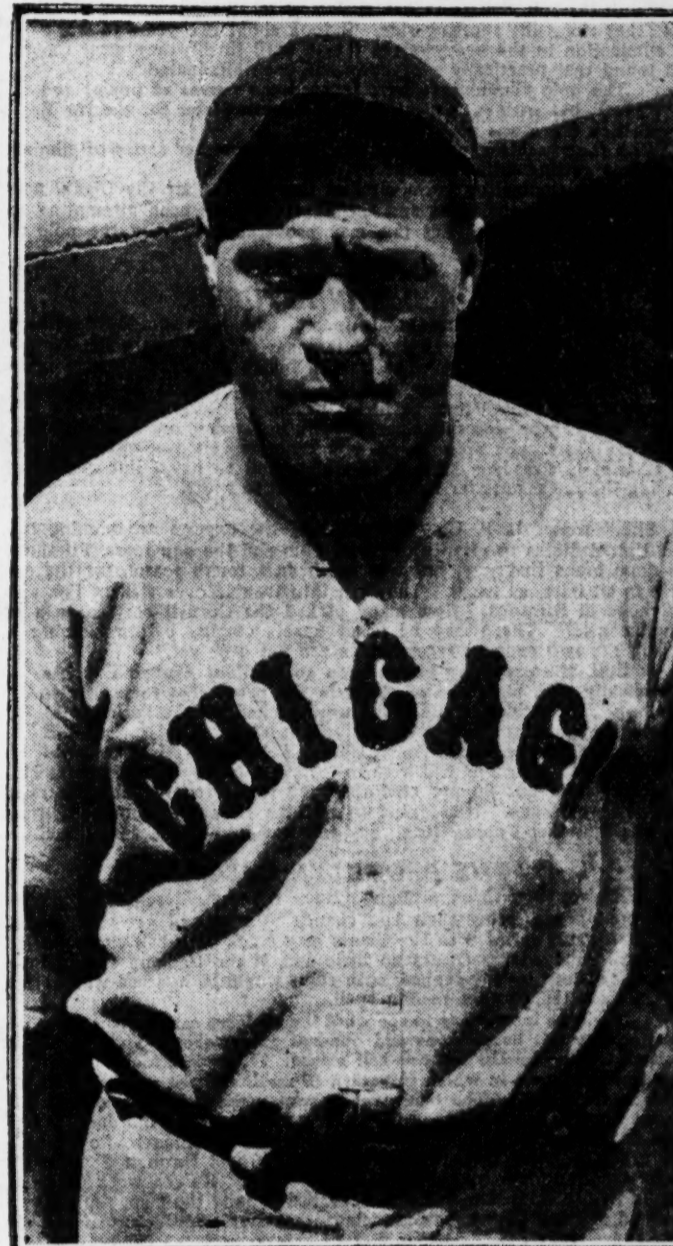

The Crackers were originally scheduled for a Sunday game in Mobile and for two games at Atlanta Monday. With all Mobile games scheduled for the road, the three games came to Atlanta.

It was planned to get rid of one of them on Sunday but the plans were dropped Tuesday night.

"We will play three games Monday," said Mr. Spiller Tuesday. "One game will be played in the morning and two in the afternoon. There is no rule against it and it is the only way we can get the three games in. It is Mobile's last appearance here."

Monday is a holiday. The afternoon games will belong to the league.

Sets New Record

Hammering Hack Wilson, ace of Cub sluggers, took unto himself the National league home run title Tuesday afternoon when he slashed out his forty-fourth homer of the season to top Chuck Klein's all-time mark, set last season, and tie Babe Ruth's present parade. Larry French, Pirate moundsman, served the fatal ball in the seventh inning of the game at Chicago. (Story on page 18.)

Joe Hall, Florida Boy, Real Decathlon Threat

Two Ambitious 'Gators Travel To Meet in Old Flivver To Place Third, Fifth.

By Ted Vosburg, Associated Press Sports Writer.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Wilson Charles, sinewy Oneida Indian from Haskell Institute, Lawrence, Kan., is the newly crowned champion of America's all-around track and field athletes, but he has a young rival from way down south who hopes to top them all by the time of the Olympic games in 1932.

Partially obscured by the dramatic finish in which Wilson came from behind to beat out big Jim Stewart for the title in the final event yesterday was the battle for third place between Harlow Rothert, of Stanford University, and an unheralded newcomer, Joe Hall, of the University of Florida, who is not yet 21.

In a little flivver with a couple of vaulting poles strapped to the side, the sturdy 190-pound Hall and a college mate, Forest Munger, came all the way from Florida at their own expense to compete here. They came alone without benefit or ballyhoo or bugles.

But when the final returns of the decathlon came in just before sundown, after more than eight hours of running, jumping, vaulting and throwing things, Hall was third and his skinny slidich, Munger, was fifth. Although the lightest man in the field at 140 pounds, Munger held his own through the strong arm events and pulled up to fifth place when they came to his specialty, the pole vault, in which he turned in the best performance of all.

In the last two events, the javelin throw and 1,500-meter run, little Munger held on to his fifth place while Hall, although far behind Rothert in the javelin throw, beat him by enough in the closing grind to trim him by the slimmest of margins, something less than two points.

GREAT DEBUT.

KIEFER BEATS LEADERS, 5-3; CARLYLE STARS

Dobbsmen Overcome Lead To Down Memphis at Spiller's.

By Ralph McGill.

Unless the Salvation Army does something about it, the Memphis Chickasaws are likely to be down and out. The Crackers trampled them again Tuesday, winning by a 5-to-3 score at Spiller field.

It was the second straight victory and three out of the last four played with the Chicks. The Crackers got the hits in the pinches and they had pitching from Joe Kiefer when it was needed. Which is the winning combination.

Roy Kiefer, celebrating his return to active service, drove in three of the Crackers' five runs. He tripped and singled just when the need for base hits was most crying.

Fred Polvogt and "Mule" Shirley drove in the other tallies. Red Barron, with three base hits, worried the Memphis chunker no little. He out-footed two of them and one was a real base hit.

KIEFER BEARS DOWN.
Joe Kiefer restricted the Chickasaws to eight hits, six of which were obtained in two innings. The chunky right-hander seems to get better in cool weather. The Chicks knocked him out in his last appearance in Memphis, but he cooled them off Tuesday.

Kiefer weathered a small rain in the first inning which had the fans barking for him to be taken out. Later they were clapping their hands for him and cheering enthusiastically.

The first three men to face Kiefer hit safely. Fast work on the part of Roy Carlyle helped the situation out immensely. Frank Wadley tried to stretch a single to left into a double and was thrown out at second. Doc Prothro followed with a double and Tex Jones singled to score him. Prothro pulling smart work on the paths, fooling Carlyle into throwing to second.

SCORE IS TIED.
Atlanta tied the score in their half of the second and Kiefer came through another storm in the third without any serious damage. Two triples and a single gave the Chicks two runs.

They led, 3 to 1, for just a few minutes. The Crackers came surging back in the fourth with the third with an attack that all but routed Griffin.

Red Barron beat out one down the third base line. Shubert walked, but Rosenthal fouled out behind the plate. Mule Shirley brought in Barron with a single and then came Carlyle with a hit to right which Joe Hutcherson misjudged, as it came bounding at him. It skipped over his head and Carlyle made third while two Crackers scamped over the platter to put the club on a winning run.

CRACKERS SCORE.
In the sixth three Cracker singles got in another run. The seventh saw the Chicks toss out their bats in a pile in front of the plate. Shoes, caps and even a chunk of ice from the cooler was tossed into the pile. They hoped to get some base hits out of the bats.

The Jinx, however, remained. It even seemed to tantalize the Chicks. Opportunity knocked and when the Chicks looked the old "was gone" was gone.

In the eighth inning Tex Jones led off with a single. Brazill fled out and Hutcherson, the hitter who beat the Crackers Sunday at Memphis, was up. Hutcherson strove for the ultimate and achieved the ridiculous. He hit into a double play.

McDaniel doubled to open the ninth. Williams and Campbell were easy outs.

Sammy Vick batted for Griffin. Vick shot one down the third base line. It looked like a double and perhaps the beginning of a rally.

Bob Lamotte, the third sacker, dashed back of the bag and into foul territory where the ball had gone after crossing the bag. He snatched for the ball, got it and threw it with a throw that he somehow got out of his arm despite the fact he was off base. It went true to Shirley's waiting glove and the Chicks were beaten again. This defeat cut the Chicks' lead to seven and one-half games.

They play again today at 3 o'clock. Andy Messenger will face Kit May as rival pitchers.

Atlanta Golf Brigade Prepares for City Tournament Next Week

JULIUS HUGHES DEFENDS TITLE AT CAPITAL CITY

Qualifying Round Slated Tuesday; Matches Will Start Wednesday.

Atlanta's army of golfers are putting the finishing touches to their strokes in preparation for the annual city tournament which will be played next week on the Capital City Club course.

Qualifying rounds will be played Tuesday, September 2, and match play will start Wednesday morning.

The low scorers will be put into divisions of 32 each and the first 32 will form the championship section. After one round of play has been completed the defeated 16 players in each division will be formed into flights and play will be resumed Thursday with every entry included. The defeated eight players in the championship flight will form a consolation flight.

The system of play was first introduced to Atlanta golfers when the Georgia state tournament was played on the East Lake Country Club course. It proved popular among the players and recently the West End Club adopted the same plan for its club championship.

The new system gives every entry three rounds of play, including the qualifying round. In former years a defeated player in the first round of play was eliminated but now he has a chance in another flight.

Julius Hughes, of the Druid Hills Golf Club is present champion, having won the title last year on the East Lake course in a 36-hole match with Pete Barnes, present Junior Chamber of Commerce spring champion.

George Gantt, chairman, John Holmes and Ed Upton, Jr., Capital City tournament committee and Howard Beckett and Willie Livingston, club professionals, will be in charge of the city tournament.

Livingstone, Yates Tie at East Lake.

M. C. Livingstone and Charlie Yates, Jr., ended all square on the 18th green Tuesday afternoon at East Lake in the championship flight for the annual president's trophy.

Yates and Livingstone plan to play another 18-hole match today for the president's trophy.

Yates gave Livingstone several handicap strokes and sank an eight-foot putt as his ball was framed by Livingstone's Yates carded a 73 for the 18 holes.

The tournament was played on the new No. 2 course and was the first tournament to be run on the new 18-hole East Lake layout.

Shropshire, Latimer Pace Junior Field.

Charlie Shropshire, 14-year-old brother of Tommy, Capital City Country Club golf champion, and Carroll Latimer, are leading the field in early qualifying rounds for play in the annual Howard Beckett trophy tournament for the Junior Chamber of Commerce of the Capital City Country Club. Both youngsters carded 84's in the first rounds.

Today will be the last for junior members of the club to build play in the annual tournament which will start Thursday morning. Howard Beckett and Willie Livingston are in charge of the players.

Stancil, Peppiatt Best of Filmers.

P. P. Stancil, with an 80, and C. E. Peppiatt, with a 71, won highest honors Tuesday in the first annual film industry golf tournament on the Druid Hills course. Stancil was low gross scorer, and Peppiatt was low net.

It was a two-day affair and handicaps applied. There were 70 entries and, in addition to six silver trophies, six dozen golf balls were given away to winners. The ball prizes ranged from three to one dozen.

Wagar Leads West End Qualifiers.

H. H. Wagar, with a 75, is leading the way in the qualifying rounds for play in the annual Ansley Park Golf Club championship tournament. Wagar carded a 37-38 in Tuesday's play. Two weeks will be given over to qualifying rounds in order that every Ansley Park member may have a chance to play in the tournament. One week will be given for each round of play.

CHIEF TO FINISH MAT DRILL HERE

Marvin Glad To Have Match With Jones Monday.

Chief Tom Marvin, the big Indian who meets Paul Jones here next Monday night, will arrive this week to complete his training for the match.

The chief isn't worried because most of the fans are against him. He is used to it.

"Wrestling is fun to me," said the chief in an interview here. "I like it rough. I don't care what the people think. Nothing pleases me more than to get some nice-looking young fellow whom the girls adore and twist his neck and muss him up."

"They don't like the looks of my face. Well, I'll make a lot of boys change their faces in that ring. I know this Jones will be tough to beat. He will give and take with anyone. That's why I'm glad to be meeting him. I'll give him all he's looking for and then some. If he wins, he'll know he has been in a match."

Matchmaker Weber expects a great crowd out to Spiller field Monday night. The match is one of the best yet and a ticket demand was on before the tickets reached the sales points.

As a special concession to the laboring men, all who present their cards at the ticket office at Spiller field will be admitted free for $1 to any seat in the stands. Ladies are always admitted to any seat for that amount. The tickets purchased on this plane must be obtained at the ball park office on the night of the match.

In the semi-windup Joe Bartush and Milo Starnes, the strongest wrestler in the world, will meet in a one-hour match.

Bartush, a Juco-Slav, will be a favorite with Atlanta fans. He is a clean-cut young fellow who knows a lot about wrestling. Tickets are on sale at the Piedmont Hotel and the Candler building and soda fountain. There will be no increase in prices.

Bob Holds Touch On Golf Courses

Robby Jones' doesn't seem to have lost any of his touch on the golf courses.

Monday he fired a 67 at East Lake. Tuesday afternoon he came back and played eight holes on the new nine at East Lake. He shot the first hole in an eagle three and then had seven pars.

Three putts failed to sink by an inch or the score would have been less. He played the Tuesday round with his father.

Jones practiced putting Tuesday and is doing just enough golfing to get in shape for the amateur tournament in September.

JOE HALL IS REAL THREAT

tempt as decathlon performers that they have great possibilities.

Roth was more or less of a known quantity because of his weight throwing exploits as a member of the Stanford track team, but Hall took everyone by surprise.

A senior next year at Florida, Hall never competed in either track or football before going to college. Once his ability was discovered by Coach Nash Higgins, he became something of a one-man track team, competing in several events in a meet with the University of Havana last season.

FROM SOUTH.

A real product of the south, Hall was "born in Alabama, went to school in Georgia and lives now in Bradenton, Florida," he said in his soft drawl. His best event here was the 110-meter hurdles, in which he led all the rest.

In the pole vault he cleared 10 feet 6 inches, a foot better than he has been in the habit of doing before, but Coach Higgins, who met the boys here, found himself wishing he could let Munger do Hall's vaulting for him.

The little fellow's leap of 12 feet would have put Joe in the thick of the battle between Charles and Stewart for first place, a battle that was won, incidentally, by Charles' superior speed and stamina in the closing 1,500-meter run.

"Maybe one of these days I can show Joe how to get up there another foot or so," remarked the little pole vaulter. "That would make him about the best all-around man in the business."

The boys are like that.

American League

MAKES 10; SENATORS 9.
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—An eight-inning rally which netted four runs, three of them in the ninth, gave the Athletics a 10-9 victory over Washington in a slugfest today and increased their lead to 71 games.

After a five-run first in the first inning, the A's staged an uphill struggle. The Athletics went into the eighth trailing 6 to 5. Summa singled and Judge, a Miller's single, Dykes' sacrifice and an intentional pass to Foley filled the sacks and Eric McNair, pinch hitting for Shorrel, drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly.

The champions won the final inning with a 3-0 lead. The Senators were out of the game and among them they allowed 16 hits. George Karsahaw, making his third start in four days, took the loss, having pitched the first four innings. Shorrel, the fourth hurler, got credit for the victory although Bob Grove's brilliant work in the final inning was necessary to hold the margin. Bump Hadley started on the mound for Washington but became wild in the fourth and was charged with the defeat. Brown finished the game.

PETRELS NEED GUARD, CENTER AND FULLBACK

Dozen Lettermen Will Report to Robertson at Oglethorpe.

Head Harry Robertson, Oglethorpe's gridiron coach, a capable center, guard and fullback and depend on the Stormy Petrels furnishing their usual packages of surprises for their gridiron opponents this fall.

An even dozen lettermen will return this fall and other veterans, who failed to make their monograms, will also be on hand, but Robertson is still searching around over the lot to fill the gaps left open by the departure of veterans who played the three above-mentioned positions.

Perhaps the greatest problem confronting Robertson is uncovering a fast stepping ball carrier who can skirt the ends and at the same time pound the line in the manner of Luke Appling, who quit the Petrel camp some time ago to join an Atlanta Cracker baseball uniform.

Hoke Bell's shoes at guard and those of Jeff Burford at center also will have to be filled. Robertson believes he has fairly good material.

Julian Stovall seems to have the inside track on the push towards gaining Bell's guard berth.

Early indications are that Spud Krat will get the center assignment over Morrow, a sophomore. Kratz is a senior and has had several hours under fire, although he has failed to win his monogram.

The fullback is the key to the success of the Petrel running attack and Robby is giving careful consideration to the candidates for this post. The loss of Appling left the Petrels with but one other kicker and passer, so it looks as if this assignment will fall to Frank Anderson. Dapper Meyers, who had such a good year at wingback last season, will probably get the fullback assignment, with Captain Merron calling signals. Anderson and Sperry probably will be the halfbacks.

The Petrel line, if the two gaps are filled, will be as strong as last year. McKisick, Goldsmith and Bryant are three good ends, while Al

"I have noticed that when Stribling is going good, boxing in general in this territory is looking up," Robby explained. "Many of the best houses on record here have been assembled when Stribling was riding a wave of popularity. In fact, Stribling himself participated in several of the biggest fights, at the gate, in Atlanta's history."

Robby added, however, that the forthcoming attraction will see the public getting its money's worth regardless of the Stribling status at the moment.

"I have 40 rounds of milling between the outstanding negro ring prospects of this city and vicinity," he declared, "and I am offering a battle royal opener—all at prices far below the usual run."

In his featured number, the promoter will trot out Dynamite Roy Dunn, of Macon and Atlanta, and Cotton Batton, of Fort Benning, who lays claim to the colored championship in his division. James Stafford, of Atlanta, and Kid Moon, of Atlanta, are semi-finalists, both lightweights.

The brother of the late Tiger Flowers, Cecil, will venture forth against Tiger Thompson, of Fort Benning, in a middleweight match. Willie Thrasher, of Troy, Ala., and Black Panther, of Atlanta, will settle a welterweight dispute. Young Billy Hooper, of Atlanta, and Battling Jackson, of Columbus, 150-pounders, will step to the center, and Lightning Howard, of Atlanta, opposes Young Langford, of Birmingham, in a welterweight encounter.

International Games Promise Stiff Competition, Color and Pageantry

By Dixon Stewart, United News Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—(UN)—Dressed with trimmings such as a track meet has never before known, the British Empire-United States games at Soldier Field Wednesday night promise color and pageantry in keeping with the caliber of competition for the first international track and field games held in America since the 1906 Olympics at St. Louis.

Soldier Field will be lighted by huge floodlights and a crowd of more than 50,000 is expected to attend. The program will start at 8:15 p. m. with a speech by Assistant Secretary of State William P. Castle, Jr., representing President Hoover.

Next a parade will circle the field, led by an American Legion bugle and drum corps and the competing athletes.

REAL STUFF.

Following the march to the flagpoles and the raising of the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack, buglers, stationed on the highest point of the stadium will trumpet the opening of competition and the real stuff will begin on the cinder track.

The two teams, selected on the basis of performances in the A. A. U. games at Pittsburgh and the British Empire games at Hamilton, Ont., arrived this morning as guests at an official welcoming banquet at noon and during the afternoon held final workouts at Soldier field.

In the evening both teams were guests at a dinner at Medinah Athletic Club.

The meet itself will furnish track and field competition of a magnitude never before witnessed in this country. The Empire athletes, representing 11 dominions, have been assembled as a single unit and comprise one of the greatest track teams in the history of the sport. In Olympic games the various dominions participate separately, but in the meet here they unite under the Union Jack.

OLYMPIC CALIBER.

To meet this challenge to American supremacy the officials in charge of the United States team have selected a squad of Olympic caliber. Hope Church, Dan Kinsey and Pat Patrick are good tacks.

Curley Fulton will hold down one guard berth, while Lockett and Golden are two other prospects for a guard post.

of American success were strengthened by the A. A. U. meet at Pittsburgh when the athletes indulged in an unprecedented orgy of record-breaking, shattering one world mark, setting three American records and tying one meet record.

American coaches feel confident of sweeping the six field events, but Great Britain is conceded a decided edge in track events. The two track events which the Americans appear to have the best chance of winning are the 400-yard relay and the 80-yard shuttle hurdle relay, with the mile relay, two-mile relay, four-mile relay, steeplechase, three-mile team race and muley relay regarded as almost certain British victories.

Coach Dean plans to start work at Marist Wednesday, September 3, several days before the opening of school.

Fiscal Set-Up for Relief In Drouth Areas Outlined

Sub-Committee To Present Final Draft for Credit System Before Hoover, Bankers Today.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(UN)—The intricate problem of setting up a drouth credit association without money was referred by President Hoover's bankers conference today to a sub-committee composed of three of its members.

This sub-committee labored far into the night working out details of the administration's volunteer credit association plan so it might present its labors to the full conference tomorrow morning for ratification.

Little trouble is anticipated because the general outline proposed by Henry

M. Robinson, member of the Dawes commission, was said to have been generally acceptable to the bankers of 16 drouth-stricken states who gathered in the White House to put a credit system in motion.

Robinson, Los Angeles banker and close friend of the president, was chosen chairman of the conference, and laid down the scheme which was proven successful in several states during the Mississippi river flood relief work.

Under this system a farmer without sufficient security for a normal loan may have his note endorsed by prominent bankers of his state and the note will be recognized by the intermediate credit bank, which in turn will issue debenture against the note to cover the amount advanced.

There was considerable discussion of the well-known project by the bankers and finally Robinson appointed as sub-committee to work out the details: Melvin A. Taylor, First National Bank, Chicago, chairman; Nicholas Dozier, Louisville, Ky., Trust Company, and Norton Prentiss, president of the First National Bank, Baltimore.

Meanwhile the bankers decided to call formally upon the agriculture department, the federal reserve board, the farm loan board and the federal farm board to ascertain what they could contribute to the situation.

According to Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, the bankers were agreed that the problem of credit like the whole drouth problem was fundamentally a local situation and should be met locally so far as possible. This is in accord with the administration interpretation.

Hyde also took occasion to announce that the other modes of relief were now in full force. Railroads have reported the movement of 665 carloads of feed at half rates into drouth communities up to last night. Of this movement West Virginia got 28 per cent; Virginia 25 per cent; Maryland 23 per cent; Ohio 16 per cent and the rest of the country 8 per cent.

Separate government agencies also have been set up, said Hyde, to care for market price information, crop reports, traffic and co-ordination of government departments.

GOTHAM SPREADS NET FOR TRUANT GANGSTER

Puzzled Police Still Hunt for Missing Roadhouse Keeper.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(P)—The mystery of the whereabouts of John T. "Legs" Diamond, gangland leader, today puzzled police who are searching for a missing Catskills roadhouse keeper and at the same time trying to solve the significance of a gangland arsenal seized here Sunday.

The bloodstained automobile of Harry Weston, the hotel keeper, missing since last Friday, was found in a garage here yesterday. The armament cache seizure was accompanied by the arrest of three men and one woman.

Cables to the master of the liner Baltic, inquiring whether Diamond was aboard, went unanswered today. The gangster, who is at liberty on $15,000 bail on a two-year-old narcotic charge, was reported to have sailed Saturday for Europe. Meanwhile, upstate police suspected he was in hiding in the Catskills and pressed the search there.

Police also notified authorities in Queens, Ireland; Cherbourg, France; and Liverpool, England, at which ports the Baltic docks, to watch for Diamond. Commissioner Mulrooney said he had not asked the state troopers, who seized Diamond's country estate at South Durham, N. Y., today and arrested William Warring, Jr., described as an errand boy, but the gangster, Warring was held for questioning. No weapons or liquor were found on the estate. Mrs. Diamond, a woman friend and two children were at home but were not arrested.

Jersey City police were asked to locate Thomas Collins for questioning the disappearance of Weston. His identity and connection with the case were not explained.

Police reported for good and second man arrived in a small coupe last Sunday and established a camp on the beach. The second man was reported missing and police and military authorities were hunting him in the belief that he killed Conlon and the girl in a drunken rage or because of jealousy.

Among the effects of the girl was a copy of a book, "The End of the Honeymoon."

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—(P)—Lois Marion Kentle, Los Angeles, fiancée of Francis Conlon, was the first woman to be found near Ensenada, Mexico, with that of Conlon today. It was revealed by her parents there. The two left Saturday for a motor trip to Ensenada with a marriage license. No motive for the killing was known by the parents.

Wiggins was flying above the clouds when the snake, which apparently had crawled into the ship while it was in port, reared its head over the cockpit and looked at him.

"I was horrified for a moment," Wiggins said. "I jumped back and my hands over my face. The snake jumped after me."

"My hands had left the controls and the ship was diving and dancing. I reached out and tried to grab the snake and pitch it overboard. It coiled and struck me twice before I could get my hands on it. Then I succeeded in throwing it off the plane."

When he finally got rid of the rattler, Wiggins found that his plane was hurtling downward completely out of control. He succeeded in righting the ship just in time to land in a pasture. The landing was made at such speed that the plane was damaged.

A rancher, who saw the forced landing, hurried to the plane and found Wiggins in a semi-conscious condition, and Mrs. W. L. Smallwood, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Hobbogood are invited to attend the funeral of Master W. L. Smallwood this (Wednesday) afternoon at 2 o'clock from the graveside in the New Harmony churchyard, Forsyth county, Harry G. 25 Bus Fares Stranded After Owner Absconds

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 26.—(P)—Twenty-five persons, including several women and two babies, were stranded here today and some had gone without food for two days, the result of a bus line owner allegedly absconding with fares paid him by the party which left Los Angeles nine days ago for Chicago and New York.

Their plight was discovered in municipal court, where three drivers were exonerated of charges of operating a bus without a permit, brought by members of the party in an effort to hold the drivers until they obtained refund of fares from B. C. Elliott, of Los Angeles, owner of the National Stage Line. Elliott, the court was told, left the party in El Paso and absconded into Mexico.

The party was due in Chicago last Friday but a series of mishaps to the bus delayed the trip, causing the passengers to use funds for food and lodging, and many said they loaned money to the drivers to use for gas and oil and for bus repairs.

The party was being cared for by citizens here until funds can be raised to send them to their destinations.

HOOVERS ENTERTAIN BRITISH LEGAL LIGHTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(P)—Lawyers and jurists from Great Britain and France and their wives and daughters were entertained at a garden party today by a well-known American engineer and his wife, Herbert Hoover, president of the United States, and Mrs. Hoover.

The scene on the broad south ground of the White House, framed by trees and set with flower-bordered fountains, was one of the gayest in a year that has been so far because of deaths in high official circles immediately preceding scheduled social events.

It was an informal social gathering, made so by the Hoovers. Many of the guests were accustomed to the most rigid formalities but the world was passed that President Hoover desired to meet the foreign notables more democratically.

The guests were dressed in the most casual of attire, and the men wore trousers, and the women wore flannel trousers, and the men wore flannel trousers, and the women wore flannel trousers.

"I wish to take this occasion," the president said, "to say how gratified I am at the presence here today of the visiting lawyers and judges from Great Britain and Ireland, France and Canada."

"These gentlemen are amongst the most eminent members of the bench and bar of their countries, and as a group are one of the most distinguished of the entire world to visit the United States."

"As they come as a gesture of the friendliness and good will of the nation, I take their visit as a very high compliment to us."

The American bar represents our country, and I speak the thoughts of our people when I say that in a large sense they are wholeheartedly the guests of this entire nation. We welcome them most cordially."

IN SEAT WITH HIM

SCOTT CITY, Kan., Aug. 26.—(UN)—The story of a battle between an aviator and a rattlesnake, found in the cockpit of a plane a mile above the ground, was told tonight from a hospital cot by H.
